RADICALS CALL CONFERENCE ON RAIL SITUATION

La Follette Group in Congress Issues Invitations to Public to Attend Parley in Chicago

VALUATION OF RAIL PROPERTY MAIN TOPIC OF CONFERENCE

Progressives Seek to "Get the Jump" on President Harding

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The La Follette radical group in congress, styling itself the "progressive group," which includes Democrats as well as Republicans, has issued an invitation to the public to attend a national conference on railroad valuation in Chicago on May 25 and 26.

The invitation is extended formally by "the committee on transportation of the progressive group in congress," of which Senator La Follette (Rep., Wis.), an aspirant for the Republican presidential nomination against President Harding, is the chairman, in co-operation with a group of western and midwestern governors.

Both Parties on Committees

On the committee of members of congress with Senator La Follette are Senators Ashhurst (Dem., Ariz.), Brookhart (Rep., Ia.) and Sheppard (Dem., Tex.), Representatives Cooper (Rep., Wis.), Huddleston (Dem., Ala.), and Logan (Dem., S. C.). The "co-operating group of governors" includes G. W. P. Hunt (Ariz.), William E. Sweet (Colo.), N. E. Kendall (Ia.), Jonathan M. Davis (Kas.), Joseph M. Dixon (Mont.), J. C. Walton (Okla.), and John J. Blaine (Wis.).

The invitation to the Chicago conference, which announces that Mayor William E. Dever will extend the welcome to the assemblage, sets forth the following purposes:

1. To promote and to protect the public interest involved in the valuation of railroad properties now being made by the interstate commerce commission and for the purpose of preventing excessive valuations of railroad properties, which will result inevitably in the imposition of unreasonable charges for railroad transportation.

I. C. C. Is Assailed

2. To take the necessary steps through action before the interstate commerce commission, in the courts, and elsewhere to require the interstate commerce commission to comply fully with the provisions of the interstate commerce act authorizing and directing the valuation of railroad properties and particularly to require the commission to perform the duties specifically imposed upon it, but which the commission has as yet failed to perform.

3. To organize, maintain, and support proceedings that are deemed advisable to accomplish the foregoing purposes.

Political leaders on the Republican side see in the conference which is being engineered by Mr. La Follette, considerable significance in view of

BRITAIN SCORES GERMAN OFFER

REPARATIONS NOTE WILL URGE A MORE LIBERAL SOLUTION

France and Belgium Reiterate Determination to Exact Payment in Full

SUM OFFERED ONLY QUARTER OF GERMANY'S TOTAL DEBT

All Reject German Offer, But Have no Counter-proposals

BERLIN.—By the Associated Press.—Despite the acrimonious tenor of the French reply to the German reparations note, the foreign office is not inclined to interpret it as wholly barricading the path to negotiations.

LONDON.—Great Britain will dispatch a note to Germany within thirty-six hours, expressing disapproval of the latest German reparation proposals and urging Germany to present a more practical and liberal solution of the problem.

Demand Full Payment

PARIS.—By The Associated Press.—France and Belgium have again served notice on Germany that they intend the reparations bill shall be paid in full and that there will be no consideration of any German proposal as long as passive resistance in the Ruhr continues to be the reich's watchword.

Replying in a joint note to the German offer of last week the Ruhr allies point out that the sum of thirty billion gold marks represents less than one-fourth of the total which both the reparation committee and Germany recognized as the amount of her debt. France and Belgium advance no proposals of their own, restricting their reply to a categorical rejection of the German terms.

The communication to Berlin characterizes the German offer as a "badly veiled, systematic revolt against the treaty of Versailles," which, if it could be considered, "would result certainly in the total and final destruction of the treaty, in the necessity of negotiating another, and in the moral, economic, political and military revenge of Germany."

To the German argument that the Ruhr occupation is in violation of the terms Germany signed at Versailles, the note points out that that pact "obligates Germany not to consider as an act of hostility any penalty imposed after the reparation commission had declared her in default." It reiterates the decision of France and Belgium to evacuate the newly occupied territories only as reparation payments are made.

UNCLE JOE CANNON 87 TODAY; CELEBRATES HIS RETIREMENT FROM ACTIVE POLITICAL LIFE

DANVILLE, Ill.—By the Associated Press.—"Uncle Joe" Cannon, who served in congress through two generations, with a record and display of personality that has made his name and black cigar as well known to schoolboys as to politicians, Monday was celebrating his eighty-seventh birthday and his home-coming from his final session of congress.

Joseph Gurney Cannon, for years autocrat of the republican party as speaker of the house, is going to rest for the remainder of his life. He is going to settle down in Danville, sit back in an easy chair in his home, and let a younger man take his place in politics. Since 1873, with the exception of two terms, "Uncle Joe" has gone to congress. He became, before his hair turned gray, the dominant leader of the house.

All Danville, persons of state and national importance, including Secretary of the Navy Denby, Secretary of Labor Davis, Governor Small, Governor McCray and Senator Watson of Indiana, are going to help "Uncle Joe" celebrate both his birthday and his political retirement in a just and fitting manner.

CLIFFWOOD INN IS GIVEN TO DEFENSE BY STANLEY GORDON

District Attorney Turns Keys Over to Cowie and Doherty; Chamberlain Seeks Inn

Cliffwood Inn, State road, held by District Attorney Gordon as evidence since the night of the fatal shooting of Chicago Jack Daley, proprietor of the inn, by his wife, Kate Daley, was turned over to attorneys for the defense, R. S. Cowie and John F. Doherty, by the district attorney Monday morning.

When Mrs. Daley was arraigned in county court last Friday, Mr. Cowie demanded possession of the premises. He said he desired to place a caretaker there and also was seeking to dispose of the property. Mr. Gordon refused to surrender the place, and upon Mr. Cowie's threat to enter the inn, ordered a deputy sheriff placed on guard at the inn. Later Friday afternoon Mr. Gordon turned the keys over to Mr. Cowie who desired to show the premises to William Chamberlain, a prospective purchaser. The keys were then turned back to the district attorney. On Monday morning it was learned that Mr. Chamberlain was still dickering for the place. It is said he has offered $7,000 for the property.

FIFTY-TWO ARE INITIATED INTO K. OF C. SUNDAY

Joint Initiation of La Crosse and Winona Councils Held Here Sunday Afternoon

AT a joint initiation Sunday afternoon, put on by the La Crosse and Winona councils of the Knights of Columbus, 52 new members were initiated into the order. Thirty-five of the candidates were from the La Crosse council, 17 coming from Winona for the event.

The third degree was exemplified Sunday afternoon at St. Joseph's hall by a degree team from the St. Paul council, headed by William D. Jamieson, state deputy of Minnesota.

Banquet at Yeomen

Following the conferring of the degree, a banquet was held in Yeomen hall for the knights and their ladies. More than 500 attended.

John E. Flanagan, grand knight of the La Crosse council, in a short address, welcomed the Winona visitors to the city, and welcomed the newly initiated members into the order. Rev. John P. Sherman of Winona, in response to the welcome, also welcomed the new members, and emphasized the statement that they should not come into the order with the idea of getting something out of it, that their idea should be for service to the order and to the nation, and that no more can be taken out of the order by anyone than he puts into it.

Father Murphy Talks

Speaking on the subject, "Our Neighbors," Rev. Ambrose Murphy, pastor of St. James church in this city and first chaplain of the local council of the Knights of Columbus, made an urgent appeal for close harmony between the different sections of the country in promoting the interests of religion, fraternalism and patriotism.

A. H. Schubert of La Crosse, state deputy of Wisconsin, traced the history of the order briefly, telling of the work which has been done by the Knights of Columbus councils, national, state and local, and forecasting for the future a long period of useful effort in behalf of the church, the nation and the order. He was followed by John G. Flanagan, district deputy of St. Paul, a member of the degree team, who emphasized the point made by Father Sherman that knighthood should be for service, not for gain.

Assails Ku Klux Klan

In his address on "Knighthood" Mr. Jamieson assailed the Ku Klux Klan and other enemies of the Catholic church, refuting the charges that the church is opposed to free speech and is not patriotic. He urged all Catholics, and Knights of Columbus in particular, to allow no accusations against the church to go unchallenged, and advocated the celebration of all national patriotic holidays with the Knights of Columbus as leaders of the community.

The last number on the program was a pleasing solo, followed by an encore, by Mrs. V. Leo Simones. Miss Elizabeth George was accompanist.

William L. Rossiter, district deputy of the La Crosse district, acted as toastmaster at the banquet.

IN SERVICE 52 YEARS

GREEN BAY, Wis. — "Fifty-two years in the harness and still going strong," is the record that was marked off Monday by Frank B. Seymour, general manager of the Green Bay & Western railroad.

HAVE YOU ENTERED YOUR CHOICE FOR SHOP GIRL WINNER?

Have you a little shop girl in your home or heart? If so, have you entered her name in the Popular Shop Girl contest?

If not, why not?

Don't you know that after midnight Thursday it will be too late?

Even if she doesn't take the first place she may win the second place, with a lovely frock or lingerie or one of the other eight valuable prizes.

The Shop Girl contest is being conducted by the Tribune and the Majestic theater, for the benefit of Oak Forest sanatorium, in connection with the photoplay, "Only a Shop Girl," which comes to the Majestic May 21.

Any La Crosse girl, employed in a store or shop, and who is popular because she is pretty, clever, gracious, charming, or just because, is entitled to enter and has an equal chance at the big prize of a choice of a diamond ring or wrist watch.

The voting, which will introduce another new and appealing feature for the contest, will begin immediately after the close of the nominations Thursday night.

Fill in the blank at once and put your favorite in the running with the dozens of other popular girls who have already entered. Send it to the Contest Editor, Tribune, and then start boosting her for one of the following prizes:

1. Choice of a diamond ring or wrist watch offered by E. W. Parker.
2. Spring or summer frock, Fred W. Kruse Co.
3. Choice of any pair of evening pumps and silk hosiery in Rivoli Shoe store.
4. Majestic pass good for two people for a year.
5. Majestic pass for one person good for year.
6. Majestic pass for two persons, good for six months.
7. Majestic pass for one, good for six months.
8. Majestic pass for two, good for four months.

FIRE CHIEF'S CAR COLLIDES WITH A TRUCK

Frank Peplinsky, Milk Truck Driver, Taken to La Crosse Hospital; is Found Only Slightly Injured

SECOND SMASH-UP OCCURS WHILE ENROUTE TO HOSPITAL

Firemen Escape Injury in Crash at Hagar and Rose Streets, Sunday

FRANK PEPLINSKY, driver of a milk truck, was slightly injured, and four firemen narrowly escaped injury when the fire chief's machine, driven by William Bantley, crashed into a milk truck owned by Broitzman and De Witt at the corner of Hagar and Rose streets while responding to an alarm at 9:20 Sunday morning.

Enroute to the La Crosse hospital with Peplinsky, H. R. Schmoll, driving a Buick, collided with a Ford touring at Tenth and La Crosse streets. Neither car was badly damaged and none of the passengers was injured.

At the La Crosse hospital it was found that Peplinsky had not sustained serious injury, and he was released shortly when an examination revealed only minor bruises.

Following the Truck

Firemen riding in the chief's car at the time of the accident reported that they were following the milk truck down the north side of the viaduct, steadily blowing the siren. Thinking that the truck driver was sufficiently cautioned, Bantley turned to pass at Hagar street when Peplinsky turned sharply to the left without any warning, according to the firemen.

Riding with Bantley in the chief's car were Captain McDonnell, substituting in Chief McGlachlin's absence from the city, John Childers and Henry Roehrl. All of the men escaped injury. The radiator of the Pierce Arrow was wrecked, the fenders crumpled and the front axle bent. Considerable damage was done to the Ford milk truck.

Small Fire Damage

The alarm to which the firemen were responding was at the residence of Nels Munkeby, 1434 Liberty street, where live ashes piled against a shed had started a fire. Little damage was reported.

In the second of the series of accidents which occurred when Peplinsky was being taken to the hospital, Schmoll was driving east on La Crosse street, colliding with a Ford touring car, traveling north on Tenth. Both cars continued their journeys and no injuries occurred.

Horse Killed in Smash

John Meinert and John Stahl, driving in a buggy to the Brown Brothers' farm, Mormon Coulee, late Saturday night, were struck by an auto that was being driven toward town. The auto and buggy were wrecked. Meinert and Stahl were bruised and the horse so badly injured that it was necessary to kill the animal. The accident happened near the Hyde & Funk farm. Meinert said the number of the automobile was 201-482. The buggy was on the right side of the road, according to Meinert, and the automobile ran into them. Stahl lives at Pickwick, Minn.

ARRAIGN AUTO THIEVES

RACINE, Wis.—The four men arrested by Milwaukee and Racine detectives as alleged members of an automobile theft ring operating in the two cities for more than three months, were arraigned Monday before Guy A. Benson, court commissioner, Racine.

The total of recovered cars is now fourteen, of which three were said to be owned by Milwaukeeans, two by Kenoshans, one a Minneapolis car and eight from Racine.

BISHOP M'GAVICK WILL ADDRESS THE CATHOLIC WOMEN

Two La Crosse people will be on the program of the annual state council of Catholic Women's organizations to be held at Prairie du Chien, which opens Tuesday and continues through Thursday of this week. Miss Kathryn Hayes will speak on "Catholic Historical Societies" on Wednesday and Bishop A. J. McGavick upon "Women's Civic Responsibilities" Thursday. This will be Bishop McGavick's first public address in the La Crosse diocese.

Arterial Highways And Traffic Cops Proposed For City

Enforce Present Parking Limit is Suggestion of W. F. Adams

ARTERIAL highways, enforcement of the present parking time-limit, rush-hour traffic "cops," and abolition of private no-parking signs are among the suggestions received over the week-end in answer to the Tribune's request for suggestions for the prevention of congestion and improving of traffic conditions in La Crosse.

Every year there are more automobiles. Tax figures show that last year set a new record for La Crosse, and this year there will be several hundred more cars added to the total. The increase is making the traffic problem constantly greater, until automobile accidents are of daily occurrence, and not a week goes by in La Crosse without a serious smash-up involving death or injury.

Arterial Highways Urged

Most of those writing to the Tribune find that highways leading from one section of the city to another, such as Cass street, West Avenue and Main street, are the chief danger points. A number proposed that these streets be designated "arterial highways," and that all motorists coming to these streets from cross-streets, be required to bring their cars to a full stop. This plan is now in operation in Chicago, in Milwaukee, and practically all other large towns, it is pointed out.

W. F. Adams, who has had a large experience with local traffic regulations because of his service on the traffic committee of the automobile club, writes the Tribune that what is needed is not so much new laws as enforcement of the present regulations as to parking time-limits.

He points out that there is now a one-hour limit, and that cars ignor-

TRADES AND LABOR COUNCIL'S PROGRAM ADDS IMPROVEMENTS

Urges Number of Additional Moves for the Upbuilding of the City

Endorsing the entire program for a greater fair in La Crosse and other improvements calculated to build up the city, the Trades and Labor council has adopted additional recommendations made by members of the Chamber of Commerce at the beginning of the year.

A week ago officials of the Trades and Labor council held a joint conference with directors of the Chamber of Commerce and agreed on eight recommendations for city improvements. The recommendations were forwarded to Mayor J. J. Verchota in separate letters. At the regular meeting of the Trades and Labor Council Friday night additional recommendations were endorsed.

The new program of the Trades and Labor Council follows:

For Bond Issue

Work to make the Interstate fair bigger and better every year. Put over the $125,000 bond issue for pavilion, four cattle buildings and large grandstand. Co-operate fully with officials. Help to secure more exhibits. Secure high grade shows and entertainment. Advertise fair more.

Build and equip modern tourist camp for travelers in Pettibone park; long shed with fireplaces, tables and reading matter; electric lights throughout grounds; more fireplaces.

Work for reduction of gas and light rates.

Provide large shell bandstand in Riverside park.

Endeavor to have city establish large auto park.

Get More Industries

Secure desirable industries.

Have systematic survey to ascertain the advisability of promoting various industries that will be most adaptable to La Crosse and territory.

Make La Crosse the convention city of Wisconsin and keep record of attendance.

Following are the recommendations to the common council which the Trades and Labor Council officials and directors of the Chamber of Commerce agreed upon at the meeting a week ago:

Provide building code for city.

Adopt ordinance requiring building permits, to keep record of growth of La Crosse.

Provide comfort stations for the city.

Secure enforcement of city ordinances, particularly of traffic, sign and bill-board ordinances.

Compel bicycle and horse-drawn vehicles to use tail-lights.

Improve streets across railroads.

Force utilities to replace paving in excellent condition.

Maintain bicycle path on causeway in good condition.

Keep tolls off bridge across the Mississippi river.

HOLD UP TRAIN AND KIDNAP 150 OF PASSENGERS

Twenty-six Foreigners Among Those Taken from Peking Express and Held Prisoner by Bandit Gang

LUCY ALDRICH AMONG WOMEN HELD CAPTIVE, LATER FREED

Cordial Relations Between U. S. and China Menaced by Kidnapping Incident

SHANGHAI. — By the Associated Press.— One American was killed by the bandits who held up the Shanghai-Peking express train near the Shantung border and carried off 150 passengers early Sunday, according to a message from Lincheng, but all the women captives, including Miss Lucy Aldrich, sister-in-law of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., have been released. The men, still held, are said to be in grave danger.

The message said the bandits had notified the authorities that all the men among the foreign captives would be killed, unless troops were withdrawn.

Miss McFadden and Miss Coralli were released with Miss Aldrich, the report added.

Troops were pressing the bandits on both sides, firing, at last advices.

The kidnapping plot is believed to have originated in Shanghai when it became known that a large party was leaving to attend the ceremony incident to the completion of the Kungchapa dyke at Tsinan.

Robert Scripps, the American newspaper publisher, is reported among the captives taken by the train bandits operating on the Shantung border. Others include Major Pinger of the American army and his two sons. Mrs. Pinger escaped.

Americans on Train

LONDON. — A Reuter's dispatch from Shanghai says that the following Americans were on the train held up by the Chinese bandits near the Shantung border:

A. L. Zimmerman, V. Haimovich, L. Friedmann, J. A. Henley, L. Solomon, Major and Mrs. Pinger and two children, J. P. Powell, Major Allen with Mrs. Allen and child, Miss L. T. Aldrich, Miss McFadden, Miss Schonberg, Messrs. F. and E. Elias and E. Genberger.

Train Derailed

TIENTSIN. — By the Associated Press.—A relief train arrived here Monday morning with a party of foreigners who escaped when the Shanghai-Peking express train was held up by a large force of bandits at Lincheng. In the party were Mrs. Robert Allen and Mrs. Pinger and the latter's younger son.

The women stated that their husbands, who are majors in the American army, and the Pingers' elder son, were kidnapped.

The Americans told a graphic tale of their experiences. The bandits, they said, started firing on the train before it was derailed, and swarmed about it, smashing the windows with hatchets, when it was brought to a standstill. Then they entered the cars and robbed the passengers of valuables, visiting some of the coaches three times to be sure of missing nothing.

One foreigner was killed, but his identity was not known to the party arriving here. It was nearly two hours after the train had been stopped that a warning whistle was blown and the bandits decamped with their captives. A few of the foreigners escaped by hiding in the long grass but more than twenty were carried off, including six women. Mrs. Allen and Mrs. Pinger were left behind when it was found they were unable to keep up with the fast pace set by the bandits.

Over Hundred Captured

It is estimated that about 150 passengers were kidnapped, most of them in their night attire and without their baggage. They were forced to walk barefoot over the broken glass in the vicinity of the train and were hustled by their brutal guards over the rough country as the bandits fled in fear of pursuit.

Soldiers arrived at the scene soon after the departure of the raiding party and the government ordered the Tuchuns (military governors) of the neighboring provinces immediately to take up the pursuit.

A complete list of the kidnapped foreigners is not available here, but an American broker named Henley,

HIGH SCHOOL PLAY TO BE BIG EVENT GRADUATION WEEK

Elaborate Plans Made for Presentation of "Strife" as Feature of Commencement

The high school Senior Class Play which is to be given by the graduating class of this June is to be the famous labor problem entitled "Strife" by John Galsworthy, a noted English author. Galsworthy plays are especially noted for their forceful, gripping situations that drive home a lesson which is bound to leave its influence for good in a community. The past week has been spent in choosing the cast.

The play portrays the suffering and distress that exists in the homes of striking workmen and shows equally well the serious situation that rests in the hands of the directors of the plant. The union through its representative is likewise unable to render justice to both parties concerned and in the meantime, during the strike, the suffering of the laboring people increases, and the losses to the company mount daily. Neither party will give way to their unjust and excessive demands and the strife results in the usual way, in a compromise where both parties lose.

The cast is as follows:

John Anthony, owner of Trenartha Tin Plate Works	Albert Hirschheimer
Edgar Anthony, son of John Anthony	Carlton Johns
Fred Wilder	Robert Yost
William Scantlebury	Ed Berger
Alvin Wanklin	George Welk
Board of Directors.
Henry Tench, secretary to John Anthony	Hugh Gauger
Francis Underwood, manager of works	Robert Hartl
Simon Harness, head of union	Emil Larson
David Roberts, leader of the strikers	Lawrence Naegle
James Green	Norman Hale
John Bulgin	Jesse Simons
Henry Thomas	Milton Steen
George Rous	Frank Frey
Workman's Committee.
Henry Rous	Kenneth Larkin
Lewis	Ralph Weber
Jago	Carl Merkel
Evans	Joseph Weikert
A blacksmith	Lloyd Olson
Davies	Irwin Hauff
A dark haired youth	Sammy Montoor
Workers at the plant.
Frost, valet to John Anthony	Arnold Amundrud
Enid Underwood, wife of Francis Underwood	Mildred Metcalf
Annie Roberts, wife of David Roberts	M. E. McCord
Madge Thomas, daughter of Henry Thomas	Elizabeth Felber
Mrs. Rous	Olga Mathias
Mrs. Bulgin	Henry Kienzle
Mrs. Yeo	Kathleen Graper
Mrs. Davies	Grace Bradfield
Mrs. Brown	Marie Holtze
Jan, a little girl	Anne Guenther
A maid	Esther Pokorlie
Workmen's Wives.

OSHKOSH FROG LEGS KING SELLS 2 MILLION A YEAR

OSHKOSH, Wis.—Shipping from a plant in his backyard 500 to 600 dozen frog legs every day in the year, Emil Neuenfeldt has made Oshkosh the heaviest shipping point for frog legs in the country. More than 2,000,000 frog legs are sent out annually by Neuenfeldt.

The frog farm in the backyard of the Neuenfeldt home is a plot of ground 70x100 feet. The frogs are kept in concrete trenches 50 feet long and six feet wide, fitted with refrigerating pipes. Running water is provided. The frogs are brought in from creeks and marshes and in the harvest season often as many as fifty men are employed.

The problem of suppressing the noise made by the frogs is overcome by the refrigeration pipes. When the frogs feel cold they get the idea that winter has come and hibernate.

People go to a lot of trouble they should keep away from.

GIRLS! MAKE UP A LEMON CREAM

Lemons Whiten and Beautify Skin; also bleach Tan, Freckles

Mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents, shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quarter-pint of the most wonderful skin softener and complexion beautifier. Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon cream into the face, neck, arms and hands, then shortly note the youthful beauty, softness and whiteness of your skin.

Famous stage beauties use this harmless lemon cream to bring that velvety, clear, rosy-white complexion, also as a freckle, sunburn, and tan bleach because it doesn't irritate.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "logy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 30c.

87 WOLVES KILLED IN CONTEST

CAVALIER, N. D.—In a wolf killing contest which recently ended in Pembina county, 87 wolves were killed, according to County Auditor W. W. Felson, who distributed the prize money and the bounty money. The main object of the contest was the preservation of sheep, as Pembina county leads in the sheep industry and produces about 10 per cent of all the wool and mutton in the state.

FISH DYNAMITER PAYS A FINE IN CALEDONIA COURT

CALEDONIA.—Frank Kunst, who pleaded not guilty to a charge of dynamiting fish when arraigned jointly with his brother, William, Tuesday, changed his plea to guilty and was fined $50 and costs by Justice Jerry Kenny.

The fine was the same as that assessed against William, who pleaded guilty when first arraigned. Both paid their fines.

SOFT DRINK RULES TIGHTENED

RED WING, Minn.—That the new city administration, under Mayor Thomas Mohn, intends to make it more difficult to operate under soft drink licenses, was apparent when the city council granted licenses for only two months instead of for a year. A condition imposed on those obtaining licenses for two months is that all curtains and partitions be removed as soon as an ordinance is framed for that purpose and subject to all police regulations which may hereafter be made.

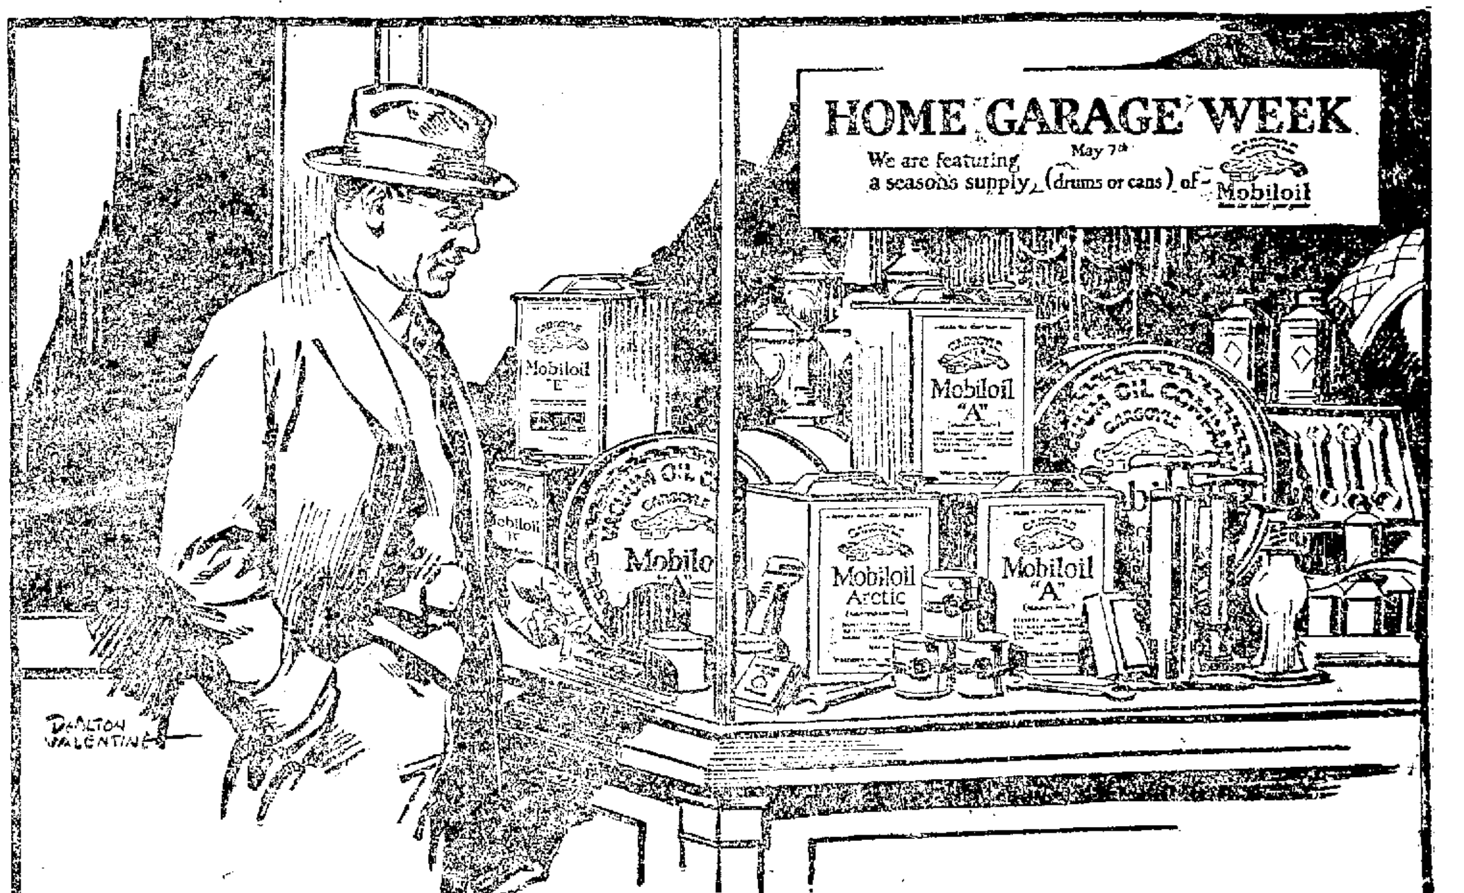
This is Home Garage Week



What's missing in your Home Garage? Check up!

IF "the lady of the house" is to be judged by the condition of her kitchen, surely her husband can be judged by the condition of his home garage.

How about yours? Is your tool equipment complete? Are your supplies adequate? Is everything in apple-pie order?

Do you always have on hand an adequate supply of the correct grade of Gargoyle Mobiloil?

The best operating results are secured by having your oil at the proper level before you leave your home garage.

Again, every motorist knows that his crankcase should be drained regularly and an entire fresh supply of oil put in. This is best done when the engine is warm. And for this purpose also, you should at all times have a good supply of Gargoyle Mobiloil in your home garage.

An adequate supply of Gargoyle Mobiloil is the most important single supply you can put in your Home Garage.

Complete Equipment—
Complete Supplies—
Secured NOW!
—may save you hours of annoyance and dollars in time and repairs.

How to buy for your Home Garage

During this week of May 7th to 12th, dealers all over the country are giving the home garage owner special attention. They have put in ample stocks of all grades of Gargoyle Mobiloil in the larger containers.

Gargoyle Mobiloil comes in 1-gallon and 5-gallon cans and 15-, 30-, and 55-gallon steel drums, equipped with a convenient faucet. The 5-gallon can and 15-gallon drum will undoubtedly be very popular during Home Garage Week. The oil is cheaper than when bought in the 1-gallon can.

See your dealer today. Most leading dealers are displaying the Home Garage Week sign in their windows. They have the Vacuum Oil Company's complete Chart of Recommendations. On it you can quickly find the correct grade of Gargoyle Mobiloil for your car.

At the same time that you buy your Gargoyle Mobiloil, check over your tool and emergency equipment. Most of your summer needs can be anticipated at this one time.

GLORY, honor and peace, to every man that worketh good.—Romans 2:10.

General Immell

IT NEEDS no telling in national guard circles that Colonel Charles R. Williams of Camp Douglas was the logical man for adjutant general succeeding the late General Holway. Always the right hand man of the general, Colonel Williams is the natural conservator of the tradition of the Wisconsin national guard, with unlimited experience and proved ability as his background. But Colonel Williams refused the post, for personal reasons that are conceded to be perfectly valid. While it is disappointing, perhaps, that Colonel Williams could not accept, it is nevertheless an excellent omen for the success of General Immell's administration that the veteran Camp Douglas soldier was first offered the post. The only deduction possible is that Governor Blaine was thinking of the welfare of the guard in making his selection of its commander, rather than of the obvious opportunity to play politics. It does not follow that there was no politics in the choice of General Immell, but it is presumptive evidence that General Immell was chosen for reasons of efficiency and in the interest of the guard.

How General Immell's regime will turn out no one can say. But there is no reason to be pessimistic. The new adjutant general has made a good record, despite his youth. He put himself through school and attained a position of importance within a few years by his own unaided efforts. He served his country loyally in the war, and demonstrated his capacity by rising from the ranks to a first lieutenancy, with a staff assignment. In the unenviable status of a "second looie" he fought through two of the major battles of the war and some smaller engagements, with an infantry outfit, and that means much to service men. They know that in the language of the army second lieutenants are regarded as "expendable" when even sergeants are not—that, in other words, the infantry shavetail falls heir to all the tough and nasty jobs that are put up to the doughboy and nobody cares very much about his life. So General Immell knows the practical, dangerous business of a soldier from the ground up.

These things speak eloquently for General Immell's fitness for his position. Against them is only his age and the possibility of politics as a factor in the matter. But these may or may not be important. General Immell's youth may mean valuable "pep" and ambition, strength and reserve power for his work. And the appointment automatically takes him out of politics. His job is for life, if he wants it. He need serve no political master to hold it. He is removable only for good and sufficient cause found in his performance of his duties.

Appointed by the man who saved the Wisconsin national guard from destruction, who first offered the post to the man who in all Wisconsin guardsmen felt was best fitted for the place, himself a soldier of experience and a citizen of demonstrated ability and intelligence, General Immell seems to start under favorable auspices. We congratulate him on his opportunity for service, and see no reason why felicitations are not also in order for the guard, in having the vacant place at its head thus satisfactorily filled.

The Great Issue

THE month of May is set aside by the National League of Women Voters as a time in which an intensive effort will be made to awaken the American people to the necessity of international co-operation for the promotion of permanent peace. In furtherance of this project the national league has offered a prize of $100 for the best essay on means to prevent war that shall be written by any high school student in the United States. Mrs. Ben Hooper, president of the Wisconsin League of Women Voters, affiliated with the national league, offers an additional prize of $50 to that Wisconsin high school student writing the best essay upon the subject.

This action by the League of Women Voters affords an opportunity to correct a rather wide-spread impression that the National League of Women Voters repudiated the League of Nations at the Des Moines convention. What actually happened was that the League of Women Voters endorsed the League of Nations, together with all other existing or possible organizations for international co-operation, but that it evaded special mention of the League of Nations because it realized that to make a political issue of the question would be to again defeat the ends at which the women voters aim. Probably there is needed no better evidence of this than the fact that in setting up the May drive for peace the international committee of the League of Women Voters made it plain that the fundamental thing in the drive was to overcome the outgrown and modernly impossible notion of national "isolation" at a time when the crew of an American aeroplane can lunch in New York on one day and in San Diego on the next in a non-stop flight.

One of the most deplorable evidences of journalistic incompetence is the fact that the sentiment of this convention of the League of Women Voters was so widely misunderstood and misreported. No one reading the press dispatches, both special and general, could have escaped the conclusion that the Des Moines convention flatly turned down the League of Nations. This is utterly contrary to the fact. No one who was present disputes that there was a very general sentiment for the League of Nations. But the women, though new to politics, are not stupid. They know that this is a republican country. They know that the republican party has been placed in a position where it can not endorse the League of Nations without repudiating itself. They know that the way to get results is to create public sentiment that will convey itself to the individual senators who must vote upon this subject. They do not care especially that the eventual international league to co-operate for peace shall be called the League of Nations. What they want is practical results, not a spectacular political fight. They could endorse the world court proposition of President Harding, as they did, because many leaders of both the republican and the democratic parties are for it. They could not endorse the League of Nations without accentuating a political issue, because before they had a hand in the matter the League of Nations was made distinctly a political issue.

A new world war, with newly developed agencies of destruction, would in one year cost the world as much in life and wealth as the world war cost in four years. That is the fact today. Ten years from now the significance of this statement would be multiplied. We may come upon the time when a half dozen men, possessed of secret inventions, could subject a continent. Once a war was made possible by man's ability to destroy. Now it is being made impossible by science's ability to destroy. Men can see this as plainly as women, but they shrink from it less.

It is the influence of women in public and religious organizations, and in the home, that must impress the manhood of the world. Woman's enfranchisement has come none too soon. We men will have to listen, and if we listen we will be convinced.

And so this May month set aside by the League of Women Voters for the development of an international consciousness in America is vastly important. It is one of the great non-partisan efforts to outlaw war. It differs from the International League for Peace in that it is strictly a woman's movement, and an American national movement. It is a hopeful sign that the first united undertaking of enfranchised women relates to civilization's greatest and gravest problem, and to a tremendous hazard which the male politicians of this country have incurred because they were willing to gamble with the world's security for political ends. That women have had the vision and the courage to perceive the peril and to seek the remedy is indeed a heartening fact. We hope that their action will arrest the attention of the country and become a great force to lift this whole question of world peace above partisan politics.

In Ye Olden Times

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY

Andrew Hansen of Gays Mills, Wis., and Miss Anna Hanson of St. Paul, were married yesterday morning by Judge Klecher at his home.

At a meeting of board of trade directors last night it was decided to raise $2,000 to be added to a like sum furnished by the Hans Motor Company to buy a site for the company to erect a factory here.

Miss Ellen Hixon of this city will sail from New York June 7 and will join Mrs. Sherman in Paris and they will spend the summer visiting different cities.

George Barclay sold a farm in the town of Farmington to Walter C. Pfaff today for $9,500.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Coroner Ed. Cronon, W. S. Jameson, Hans Jacob and Paul Lutz, Sr., left last evening for Milwaukee where they will represent the local lodges of the Ancient Order of United Workmen at the grand lodge meeting.

Mrs. George Weston and son Edward of 1611 South Sixth street, returned last evening from a two months' visit in England. They were accompanied by Mr. Robert Weston, a nephew of Mrs. Weston, who intends to make this city his future home.

Irving J. Bunn, a well known fireman at Station No. 4, and Miss Hanna Warren were united in marriage last evening at the home of the bride's parents, 1437 George street, by Rev. Moore of the Caledonia Street M. E. church. The couple will live on Berlin street.

The marriage of Henry Hemker and Miss Sophia Horstman of Barre Mills was celebrated yesterday, Rev. Siegler performing the ceremony.

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

It is rumored that Mr. Blumer has sold out his Daisy Roller Mill in Mormon Coulee to a Mr. Schaller of La Crosse.

Harry Espersen started for Santa Fe, New Mexico, yesterday where he intends locating.

Mrs. Fred Baker and family of Nelson, Buffalo county, have come to this city to make their home.

Assessor M. H. Downey entered upon his new duties yesterday.

The honor of being the best shot in North La Crosse must be awarded to Officer Yehle. He won, for the second time, the prize of $5.00 for the best marksmanship at Lockman's Shooting Gallery, scoring fifty-eight points out of a possible sixty.

The Difference

By MARTHA McC. WILLIAMS

Everybody knew Miss Jessie Kapper for a person of the highest principles; what was not so well known was that her thrift, which was alike hereditary and habitual, forbade use of the principles for every day. She spoke eloquently of the larger vision, world humanity, harmony with cosmic law, above all, the crying need of the uplift. She was further, more than generous with her time and her breath for all manner of causes that might serve as pedestals. Notwithstanding, there were chuckles from the unregenerate mass over the washerwoman's verdict. "Hit ain't only that she wants to be bellwether or no sheep—somebody else must pay for the bell."

She looked exceedingly well to the ways of the household—her mother was an invalid, her father away half the time in congress. That gave her added prestige, if she didn't go to Washington with the general. Her mother was excuse quite sufficient—and daughterly devotion was thus an added asset. She paid cash for everything save her subscriptions to church and charity—for them she set apart the increment of her small economies.

She loathed extravagance—especially the Carroll Beaton sort. Carroll also kept house for a rather helpless family—a pretty, frightened, incapable mother, and a scientific father, who lost himself in his work. Luckily they had a fixed income—a fairish one—but Carroll wore clothes it pained Mrs. Grundy to see, admittedly because she could not afford better. Yet she bought the best of everything in market — not always the costliest rarities, but the best of its sort. She kept a maid for her mother, and a man-cook, who also looked after the lawn and the laboratory both, at wages that seemed fabulous to Allyntown, the while doing her own sewing, and even making over her hats. She had little parties, too—very simple—cake and ice cream or tea and sandwiches in cherry or strawberry time—the fruit serving in place of sweets. There was dancing, too, on the piazza or the grass, to the phonograph that was Mama Beaton's consolation. New records for it, costly ones at that, further jarred Miss Kapper's amiability. So badly, indeed, she said outright to her gossip, Miss Susan Fife: "If ever anybody needed a guardian it is Carroll Beaton—unless she gets one of some sort, she'll die on the town."

"She can get a mighty fine one, any minute she'll say yes," Susan returned smiling slyly.

Miss Kapper bridled, saying acidly: "You don't really believe John Huntly has serious intentions? I know he goes there right along—but it's to see the professor, same as it has always been——"

"Maybe he's 'saltin' the old cow for the calf'—but I have my doubts," from the gossip. Miss Kapper opened her lips to speak, but shut them with a snap of the jaws on what she had meant to say, running on after a minute to her fall clothes—which meant making some few new ones and making over many that had seen service. Dyed, re-cut and re-furnished they would look new and wear just as well—and such a saving! Jennie Britt, the little old maid dressmaker, charged so moderately even Carroll Beaton could afford her — if only she would. And so obliging—always ready to turn, and contrive, make the most of every scrap of lace or trimming—and never send in a bill till the end of the quarter. Jennie was an institution, said Miss Kapper, and "John Huntly'll agree to that," said Miss Susan. "He goes there every little while to hear her tell about his mother—they were brought up together, and went to the same school. She gave him his first case when he started law-practice—I shall always say she'd never a-gone and sued the Prices on that last land-note if she hadn't wanted to show folk that John could do."

The land money safe in a seven per cent mortgage, Jenny Britt felt she could let it ride, a sure provision for age or illness, meanwhile earning a trifle more than she spent to live if she did work so cheap. She had rooms downtown —two shabby but clean always and rather cheery by lamp light. John Huntly found them so upon a rainy October evening, whose early dusk had somehow made him lose relish for work. Aunt Jennie would brace him up—she was so bird-like, always cheery, no matter where the wind sat. She would give him tea, just the sort he liked —not too strong—clear and very hot, with rose leaves she had candied herself, floating in it, dark blurs against her single eggshell cup. They were in the kitchen brewing it when there came a merry rataplan upon the outer door.

Miss Jennie smiled to hear it. "Sit still here and don't you peep," she adjured her first visitor over her shoulder as she vanished, leaving the door ajar.

Next minute he heard Carroll saying gayly: "Ah, ha. Keeping Blind Jack's holiday, Miss Jen! Don't blame you—rain always makes me lazier than usual. So I had to rush out in it to bring you these—just a few late peaches, and some pears not yet mellow. Mother said you must have some the minute she saw them. No—can't sit down—company coming to supper tonight—give back my basket—I'll want to fill it for somebody else."

Word rushed on word — Huntly could picture the speaker's vivid face. He had known her all his life. He had never dared tell her his hopes—and fears. Possibly because having still his way to make, he had left her beyond his reach. Miss Kapper, of whom he saw a good deal, both in business and socially, was perhaps to blame for the feeling. He liked her cordially—she was so sensible, likewise so kindly—always interested in his prospects, and overflowing with woman-sympathy for cases of need. She had shed the balm of her sympathy even upon Carroll—such a pity, the dear, brilliant girl was hampered as she was—no chance to train herself for a career—what would become of her when her mother died, and the annuity with her, Miss Kapper could not guess, unless Carroll were wise and lucky enough to make a good marriage.

All this was nebulously at the back of Huntly's mind, when he heard Aunt Jen, saying briskly: "You've got a new frock child—never mind how I know—so you bring it here tomorrow. I'll make it in time for the Allen's party if I have to sew Sundays."

"Get thee behind me Brit—you know I can't afford it." Carroll interrupted.

"There'll be nothin' to pay—I'd love to do it—good as you are to me," from Miss Jennie.

"Bless your heart, I can't afford that any more than the other thing, you angel-sparrow!" from Carroll. "One reason I've never come to you for work was—it hurts me to see you get so little—you cheat yourself in every stitch you set."

With that she rushed away, heedless of Aunt Jen's protests. But that lady was scarcely settled to tea cups before another knock, solid, precise but imperative. Half a minute later Miss Kapper was saying softly, "You put in that lining so beautifully, Miss Britt. I've brought another job of the same sort. And I shall tell everybody how reasonable you are. Why, the tailor asked eight dollars to reline the coat—and you did it for three. Now, if you'll put the old lining—it is perfectly good except at the neck, and there's plenty of it, in this other coat, I'll be quite willing to pay you the same price."

"You ought to be!" Miss Britt said firmly. "But—I don't put in old linings—they never fit. If you're in a hurry I've some stuff would answer——"

"Not for my purpose," from Miss Kapper freezingly. "You may like to practice extortion—I'll be no party to it. Either you use the old material—or I'll take the work to somebody else."

"Good riddance!" Miss Britt ejaculated. A half minute later the door slammed—hard.

At the sound Huntly came from the kitchen saying with an angry laugh, "Aunt Jen—my coming tonight was purely providential——"

"I reckoned so myself," from Aunt Jen. "Gave you a chance to see the difference. I've been scared you'd marry that smooth-tongued skinflint; now, you let her slide—and do your best to make a match with Carroll."

"Just what I shall try to do—with your good help," Huntly answered giving her a hearty hug.

BERTON BRALEY'S DAILY POEM

ATTENTION

BY BERTON BRALEY

Man is ever easy meat
  For the truly clever woman,
She can have him at her feet
  If she'll treat him with acumen;
What's the secret, what's the charm
  Which will very subtly woo him?
Be he from the town or farm—
  Listen to him!

Hang upon his spoken word,
  Hearken to his conversation;
Act as though you'd never heard
  Such a fund of information;
Though with boredom you grow wan,
  Still, with seeming wonder, view him
As he babbles on and on—
  Listen to him!

Old or young or great or small,
  Man is easy prey for stalking,
And he'll nearly always fall
  For the dame who keeps him talking;
Eve on Adam tried that plan
  (Oh, how thoroughly she knew him)
And it works on modern man—
  Listen to him!

INDIANS TO SUE U. S. FOR LANDS TAKEN BY WHITES

Claims Amounting to Nearly Three-fourths of a Billion Filed by Sioux Nation

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The American Indian has abandoned the war ax and scalping knife for the weapons of the white man. The great Sioux nation will sue the United States for payment for lands and property taken from the Sioux by the whites, and the amount of the claim, with interest, is not less than three-quarters of a billion dollars.

The suit brings back on the stage of events the gold rush to the famed Black Hills of South Dakota.

Sue on Forty Counts

The Sioux will bring action on forty separate counts for a total of over $219,000,000 and demand interest on most of the items, which in total makes this suit the largest suit ever filed in any court at any time.

The Sioux say the United States has left undone things which ought to have been done under the treaties of 1851 and 1868; that millions of acres of their tribal lands were taken from them; that their game was slaughtered by the whites, their ponies and tepees taken from them, and their moneys spent by the United States for improper purposes.

Foremost of all their claims is the demand for $156,000,000, with interest thereon, for the Black Hills and surrounding area, taken from them, they say, by force and by arms in 1874 and 1875; and they claim the United States permitted and connived in this taking, well knowing the land was immensely rich in gold.

Claimed by Hearst's Father

They ask only $100 an acre for the gold bearing lands, although one of them, the famous Homestake mine, has produced hundreds of millions of gold. This mine, located and developed by the father of William Randolph Hearst, is the foundation stone of the Hearst fortune and is today controlled by the Hearst family.

DETECTIVES' BULLETS END HIS $25 KISS IN TAXI

NEW YORK.—A kiss which only bullets could terminate cost John Smith, Perry street, $25 in Jefferson Market court.

John administered the kiss on the cheek of Miss Maud Hurley, 22 years old, while the two were part of a "foursome" following a cabaret party. Miss Hurley bit, scratched and screamed. But John desisted, it was charged, only when detectives heard Miss Hurley's shrieks and fired two shots at the taxicab.

"When you kiss hereafter," admonished Magistrate Thomas F. McAndrews, "first ascertain whether the kissee wants kissing."

Smoking compartments are to be provided in the new wooden winged monoplanes for use on the London-Amsterdam-Berlin route.

WINTER WHEAT IS SLOW IN STATE OF WISCONSIN, REPORT

WASHINGTON.—The season in Wisconsin has been so backward that it is impossible to determine the condition of winter wheat with accuracy, the Department of Agriculture asserted today in its semi-monthly crop review. The conditions in the Badger state also exist in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Michigan.

Advance in price has caused an increased shipment of old stock of potatoes in Wisconsin, and Michigan the statement said.

Tobacco growers in the Badger state report intentions to increase their acreage and so also those in Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Kentucky and West Virginia. The breaking and preparation of ground for the crop is being rushed in Wisconsin.

Winter rye and barley are generally better rooted than the wheat and are showing up in good condition generally. The acreage seeded to oats will apparently be somewhat increased. This is due in some part to lack of sufficient labor tending to reduce the corn acreage. Corn planting will be backward generally.

Pastures and meadows are backward as a rule though improvement has been steady but slow during the past two weeks.

TWELVE GREATEST AMERICAN WOMEN PICKED BY LEAGUE

CHICAGO.—Who are the twelve greatest living American women?

After working for nearly a year on the choice the National League of Women Voters, through a committee, has just decided upon and published the following list as that of the twelve women who have definitely contributed most in their several fields to the betterment of the world:

Jane Addams	Philanthropy
Cecelia Beaux	Painting
Annie Jump Cannon	Astronomy
Carrie Chapman Catt	Politics
Anna Botsford Comstock	Natural history
Minnie Maddern Fiske	Stage
Louise Homer	Music
Julia Lathrop	Child welfare

Edith Wharton	Literature

BOY SCOUTS PLAN ANNUAL BIKE TRIP DOWN TO THE DELLS

Lads to Leave on Friday, June 8 and Return on Monday, June 12

Every boy possessing a bicycle will be interested to know that the date for the Dell bicycle ride has been definitely set for June 8. The boys are to meet at 6 o'clock on the morning of that date, with four days' rations, each meal wrapped separately, and packed in a box not larger than one foot square, which will be carried on a truck.

Many boys who will not be able to go to camp because of having accepted positions for the summer, are contemplating taking this bicycle ride as their vacation. The boys leave Friday morning, June 8, and will return Monday night, June 12. The trip will be made in easy stages. The boys will visit the lower and upper Dells.

Much time will be spent in studying contour maps of the vicinity before the boys leave on their trip. Maps can be seen at Campbell's Cycle Agency, where the boys will be examined and instructed, preparatory to the trip by Mr. Howard Campbell, who has charge of this outing.

Every boy before leaving, must pass the merit badge in cycling, even though he is not a first class scout, and then he will have one merit badge to his credit upon becoming a first class scout.

La Crosse is a bicycle town, and it is expected that fully 100 boys will take advantage of this trip. By special permission, any boy who is not a scout, who would like to take the trip can see Mr. Campbell, and arrangements will be made so that he can accompany the expedition.

The scouts who were on the trip last year will be put in charge of groups of boys on the trip this year.

Every boy contemplating making this trip should go to see his family physician for advice regarding his ability to stand the trip, and the heavy training necessary before being allowed to go.

Boys who have sent in their names for the trip are Assistant Scoutmaster Raymond Mee of troop 16, John Scherer, Billy Salzer Wayne Veneman, Lawrence Girard, Gilbert Tichenor, Dermel Smith, Edward Soderberg and Dudley Emmert, also Dan Young Bear, who expects to be in La Crosse for the ride.

FOOD PRICES IN ODESSA LOWER THAN LAST YEAR

ODESSA, Russia.—Although food prices have gone up sharply here in the last month it is still possible to buy a dozen good fresh eggs for less than 20 cents, and this despite the fact that Odessa last year was among the worst famine sufferers in the Ukraine.

To the ordinary wage earner, 20 cents represents one-twelfth of his weekly pay. A year ago he could not purchase a dozen eggs without sacrificing an entire week's wage.

WOMAN LEADS RAID ON GAMBLERS AT RANDOLPH

RANDOLPH, Wis.—John Kaiser, late of Portage, Baraboo and Milwaukee, is held under $500 bonds, charged with operating a gambling place here. Sheriff Nehls, under the direction of District Attorney Miss Dorothy Walker of Portage, made the raid. A roulette wheel and other paraphernalia will be burned on the public square.

CO-OPERATIVE DAY JUNE 16

BALSAM LAKE, Wis.—Co-operative day is coming. U. S. PLANNING NEW BOND ISSUE OF FOUR HUNDRED MILLIONS

Budget for Year Will Show Surplus of $125,000,000 Reports Mellon

WASHINGTON, D. C.— In announcing the government's May financing program, which will comprise a $400,000,000 issue of 4 3-4 per cent treasury notes maturing on March 15, 1927, with the treasury reserving the right to allot aditional notes to the extent that 4 3-4 percent Victory notes are tendered in payment, Secretary Mellon presented a review of the condition of federal finances, in which he predicted that the national budget for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1923, would show a surplus of more than $125,000,000 in revenues over expenditures.

This declaration supplemented a statement by Director Lord of the budget bureau that there would be a surplus of at least $60,000,000 shown in the budget as a result of government economies, record custom receipts, and internal revenue receipts on a scale that exceeded expectations.

The new notes will be dated May 15, 1923, and will be issued in denominations of from $100 to $100,000. They will not be subject to call before maturity and will carry the usual tax exemptions. The treasury department probably will give preference to the small subscriptions.

The fact that the issue of new treasury notes in the May program was put as low as $400,000,000 was somewhat of a surprise, as Victory notes maturing on May 20 amount now to $765,000,000, and Victory notes which fell due on Dec. 15 last and have not yet been turned in for redemption, although drawing no interest, represent about $65,000,000, giving a total of $830,000,000 of these notes which the treasury department must be prepared to redeem.

LIBRARY LENDS RECORDS FOR TALKING MACHINES

Dandruffy Heads Become Hairless

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. Four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

The Value of Personal Contact

PERSONAL contact is essential to the growth of complete understanding.

When business operations and business organizations were small, the employer could know his employees personally and the merchant could know his customers. All had the advantage that comes from the intimacy of close, personal acquaintanceship. Misunderstandings were easily adjusted. Every man knew every other man as a citizen and as a friend and there was no suspicion of motives.

Today, when big enterprise is the order of business; when large accumulations of capital are essential to the accomplishment of undertakings of real value to the public, the several groups are denied the advantage of this personal contact.

Recognizing this handicap, the management of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has established a system of direct personal contact with the great body of employees and through them with the public.

The management maintains close, personal relations with the employees through the Department of Industrial Relations, where the employer and employee get together on common ground to discuss and settle, in friendly conference, questions of mutual interest.

To promote still closer relationship, the Board of Directors, as a body, make frequent visits to refineries and to the field, where they meet and confer with the great body of employees.

The value of this personal contact is reflected in the harmonious relations which exist between the Company and the earnest, loyal, hard-working employees, who thirftily invest their savings in the Company's business and who have added interest in seeing that the Company's customers get efficient service.

LINCOLN FUND WELL STARTED TOWARD GOAL

Committee of Lincoln School P. T. A. Working for $1,000 for Memorial Fund

With a goal of $1,000 for a memorial bust of Abraham Lincoln to hold a prominent place in the new Lincoln school building, a committee of the Parents'-Teachers' association of that school are working continually. A good start has been reported by the association through its president, D. S. Greig, with about $225 in the fund at present.

The members of the memorial committee are the Mesdames Frank Davy, J. O. Albrechtson, J. E. Monegan, J. Jensen and C. A. Whitney, and D. H. Shepardson, principal of the school.

The committee plans a coffee, or social, for Tuesday afternoon and evening to add to the fund. The event will be at the Lincoln school from two to five in the afternoon and from seven to nine in the evening. Coffee, cake and ice cream will be served, and there will be a candy booth presided over by Miss Elizabeth Vik and the eighth grade domestic science girls.

FADS AND FASHIONS OF TODAY

By DOROTHY PHILLIPS

Popular Star of First National Pictures.

Nothing is quite so smart this season in the millinery world as the small close-fitting hat with its extremely narrow visor in front; alongside of it the larger and more fantastic model looks clumsy and cumbersome. Unfortunately every woman cannot wear this severe type as it throws the features into bold relief and is uncompromising towards irregularities which are much more kindly dealt with by the wider brims.

Use can be made of the new beautiful scarves which are making such dazzling splashes of color this spring. Printed silks and flamboyant chiffons in Persian, Egyptian and rainbow designs are worn draped about small turbans, giving them a most Oriental effect that is both flattering and charming.

Very little, if any, trimming is used on these small turbans; the side ornamentations of last year have disappeared entirely. A combination of two different fabrics is frequently found, such as velvet with silk, or satin with crepe, but they are of exactly matching tones.

These hats are the non plus ultra of 1923 millinery fashions.

Large hats there are in plenty, however. Brilliantly hued flowers which are so beloved by women are being turned out more beautifully than ever. Exquisite varieties of orchid tinted blossoms predominate, and light jade greeny fancies which grow only in the designer's fertile imagination are offered in respect to the season's favorite color.

In Paris, immediately upon the discovery of Tut-ankh-amen's tomb, the designers swooped down upon the mummy and made of its winding sheet, the last word in chic. This eccentric vogue, however, was amazingly short lived, and the fickle Parisiennes went to the extreme of displacing it by the adoption of the American cowboy's chaps and the Mexican's sombrero.

In the sketch is shown one of these modified sombreros and on the tall young girl they are both picturesque and becoming. Their popularity will be very limited, as it is a most difficult model to wear.

New York has taken more kindly to the Egyptian inspiration, and the milliners along Fifth avenue assert that this summer will be an Egyptian one. The quaint angular figures are interesting and lend themselves very easily to embroidered frocks and suits, and as it is expected embroidery is going to have quite a vogue this year, we will undoubtedly adopt this design with the same lack of resistance that we accepted the Russian last year and the Spanish the year before.

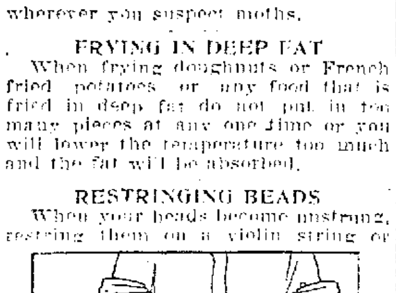
Household Suggestions

CURE FOR MOTHS

Sprinkle red pepper generously wherever you suspect moths.



FRYING IN DEEP FAT

When frying doughnuts or French fried potatoes or any food that is fried in deep fat do not put in too many pieces at any one time or you will lower the temperature too much and the fat will be absorbed.

RESTRINGING BEADS

When your beads become unstrung, restring them on a violin string or on dental floss. Either wears much longer than thread.

BOILED EGGS

You may be sure your boiled egg is a fresh one if it dries immediately on coming out of the water.

LEATHER SUITS

The leather jacket has already achieved a notable success in the world of fashion, but now comes the entire leather suit of brown cut on straight lines, trimmed only with buttons and starps. With it is worn a tan leather hat—cloche, of course.

Even if you have a leather skin, it will instantly know the difference—try Blue Devil water softener.—Adv.

The world's finest ship model is the famous ship "Sovereign of the Seas."

HOME MAKERS GET TOGETHER

La Crosse county women, from the city as well as the country, are invited to the Home Makers' all day meeting at the County Agricultural school Tuesday. The meeting will begin at 10 a. m. and continue during the day. A picnic dinner will be served at noon. All those who come are requested to bring only their own cups and silver.

Besides the speakers from outside the state, will be Mrs. Nellie Kedzie Jones, Miss Gladys Meloche and Miss Sadie McNulty from the university extension division at Madison.

MANNERS

By NORMA TALMADGE

Visiting has its own code, and it is a very complicated one depending upon whom, when, where and why. If one is to undertake all the obligations of a complete social existence, one must master this code in all its details. But, whatever one's estate, there are certain visits he must pay and he should pay them gracefully.

Visits

1: A visit of congratulation should be paid to the new mother and a gift always should be presented to the baby.

2: In calling to inquire for the sick, one invariably asks to be received and it is pleasing to take flowers or books as a gift.

3: One pays a visit of condolence at once, except that a woman does not call on a man, but instead writes him a note of sympathy.

4: When a man relative announces his engagement, one goes immediately to call upon his fiancee.

5: In large cities neighbors seldom call on each other, but in the country and smaller places older residents should call upon newcomers.

It's bad manners to keep a visitor waiting.

A wife separator? No! No! No! But a sweetener and grease separator for a cream separator. Well, try Blue Devil and see.—Adv.

BEADED COAT

The all-over beaded coat, a short model, is worn with a perfectly plain skirt. Steel beads are used and platinum fox makes the collar which finishes it at the neck.

Now is the Season for Travel and Adventure — If Even at Home!

A HAMMOCK, OR AN EASY CHAIR, AND A FEW RECENT TRAVEL BOOKS AND YOU ARE FIXED FOR A SUMMER DAY'S VISIT TO MANY STRANGE CLIMES.

DEAN REVIEWS

"In the Wake of the Buccaneers," by A. Hyatt Verrill (Century).

"A Woman Tenderfoot in Egypt," by Grace Thompson Seton (Dodd, Mead).

"The Unveiled Ladies of Stamboul," by Demetra Vaka (Houghton, Mifflin).

BY JAMES W. DEAN

NEW YORK.—Now comes the season of our discontent. The bursting bud, the buzzing bee, the long, white road and the ship that goes out to sea—all are calling. But most of us who would set out to see how the other nine-tenths of humanity live are fettered by duty—duty at desk, at work bench, or at kitchen sink.

What better then, in hammock hours, than to listen to the tales of those hardier, or more irresponsible, souls who have trod the strange places of the earth?

Come! We are off to strange climes, borne thither by little black caravans that move across the white spaces between two cloth covers. A few volumes of new travel books and the earth is yours.

* * * *

Virgin Isles. If tales of pirates bold and hidden treasures fascinate you then pick up "In the Wake of the Buccaneers." This is an account of the cruise of A. Hyatt Verrill through the islands of the West Indies. He chartered the Vigilant, a sailing vessel whose keel was laid late in the eighteenth century, a boat that once bore an unsavory reputation as a pirate. His outfit was a heterogeneous collection of men, as picturesque as any corsair crew.

As the Vigilant touches the shores of the many islands of the Caribbean, Verrill recounts the legends connected with them. He makes Captain Kidd a respectable, pussy-footing sort of fellow and bestows upon Prince Rupert of the Rhine the honor of being the great pirate.

As fascinating as the pirate tale was, I was more interested in the author's account of various beliefs and superstitions of the natives. Especially, the belief of West Indians that "New York" and the "United States" are one and the same. There are many white men in Gotham who are no more enlightened in that particular.

* * * *

Sheik-land. Think not that all the tales of adventure are woven by men. Nothing in any of the recent travel books I have read seemed quite so thrilling as Grace Thompson Seton's chapter on "Caravaning" in "A Woman Tenderfoot in Egypt." The book deals with the feminist movement in Egypt but its big appeal is in the author's own experiences.

Mrs. Seton writes of her experience with Gameel, a Bedouin: "Holding my animal's bridle firmly, the Bedouin, lithe and powerful as a panther, stood in front of me, his face on a level with mine, not a foot apart. His eyes blazed and his picturesque speech came fast.

"'For weeks your glorious white face has filled my heart. I cannot sleep, I cannot eat because of you. Night and day I am mad for you. You are mine. May Allah forgive me. If I live, or if I die in a thousand torments, still shall you be mine.'

". . . Alone in the desert with a passion-driven animal! . . . 'Ah, madame, give me the honey of your lips, the sweetness of the date shall fill us. Hold not! Many white ladies come to the desert for this.'

"The situation was impossible. * * * I had one weapon and I would use it. It was a weapon I had been taught never to use on a human being save in a matter of life and death. I felt justified in using it now. It was a glorious opportunity. I could test it without compunction. Would it work?

"'Gameel! Look at me! Look into my eyes!' The words issued from my lips in a vibrant whisper. My whole soul swelled with power. I, I would conquer him!

"Startled, the half-crazy man looked into my eyes, not six inches from his. I do not know how long the silent struggle lasted. What he saw there caused his body gradually to relax, his arms loosened their grasp, dropped to his side, his face became drained of every drop of blood his eyes wide and staring.

"* * * I had matched my will against his—and won. * * * It was rather terrible to see a magnificent animal, in all the glory of its lustful strength, paralyzed into a limp and beaten thing."

* * * *

Stamboul. One might expect from the title of her book, "The Unveiled Ladies of Stamboul," that Demetra Vaka had written a fictional tale more romantic than Mrs. Seton's experience with the Bedouin. The unveiling, in this instance, is mental and spiritual, rather than a physical.

Demetra Vaka, a Greek born in Turkey, is well-grounded in her subject. She gives an enlightening picture of social and political conditions in Turkey today. A woman and a Greek, she sees two sides to each of the perplexing problems in Turkish affairs in which the diplomats of many nations are now concerned. And she sees two sides where many of the diplomats see but one.

Mrs. Snyder's HOME-MADE Candies

By MRS. ORA SNYDER

America's Candy Queen.

MOLASSES CANDY

½ cup water.

½ cup sweet cream.

¾ cup corn sirup.

1 cup best grade molasses.

½ cup light brown sugar.

1 cup granulated sugar.

Mix well and after batch comes to a boil stir occasionally to keep from burning. Cook to the hard ball stage and remove from fire. Add pinch of salt and a pinch of soda, half cup butter and half teaspoon vanilla.

Mix well and cool on buttered slab or platter. When cool enough to handle, pull over hook until it is creamy and a light yellow color. Cut into small pieces and wrap in wax paper or place on buttered plates.

This candy is very good with peppermint flavor added, using three-fourths teaspoon of oil of peppermint, and omitting vanilla.

A fine way to spend six seconds—dig up 13c and say, "Blue Devil, please" to your grocer.—Adv.

MISS BUEST IS SPEAKER AT LEAGUE

Catholic Women's League Told of Library Influence Upon Child

Miss Nora Buest, librarian of the children's department of the La Crosse public library, addressed the regular meeting of the Catholic Women's club, held at the Knights of Columbus hall on the evening of May 3. A musical program by Mrs. Leo Simones and Bernard Volz, with Miss Elizabeth George as accompanist, was a part of the program.

The influence of the library upon the child before he can read, and the value of early impressions was the subject of Miss Buest's discussion. That there is an advantage and help to children in later years in the poems and songs and pictures of their childhood is an accepted fact.

In the first stage of their development, children love action. Blanche White is a favorite because of this. Lucy Fitch Perkins "Twin Books" is a realistic series of books for this period. The second stage is the fairy tale age. Then a moral can be presented which will be a help in later years. The romantic in history and literature, like Thompson's "East of the Sun and West of the Moon," is most enjoyed.

Children in the third stage are realists; they want something true. This is the age for history, nature study, geography, sea stories and farm tales. The library offers something for each age, and a child is never too young to begin his visits to the children's room.

STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE

BY BERTHA E. SHAPLEIGH

Of Columbia University

Sift one pint of flour, four teaspoons of baking powder, one-half teaspoon of salt and two teaspoons of sugar together. Cut into the flour four tablespoons of butter or three tablespoons of lard and moisten to a soft dough with about two-thirds of a cup of milk. Take onto a floured board and roll to one-half inch in thickness. Cut with a biscuit cutter, place in a buttered pan and bake 15 minutes in a hot oven. Split, butter and fill with strawberries sweetened and slightly mashed. Place on top a spoonful of beaten cream.

The dough may also be divided and baked in a round pan. Have both pieces baked in the same pan, one being placed on the other, the lower piece well buttered.

Shortcake is very good covered with crushed, sweetened strawberries, slightly warmed and served with plain cream.

SINGLE VOTE MAY DECIDE FATE OF TAX LEGISLATION

Governor's Measure Has Little Chance of Passage Despite Threats, Claim Members

AMENDMENTS TO BLAINE BILL PENDING IN THE UPPER HOUSE

Action on Changes Offered by Socialists Will Influence Vote

MADISON, Wis.—By The Associated Press.—The fate of all tax legislation before the present session hangs in the balance in the senate where the change of a vote or two marks the difference between success and defeat of proposed new revenue laws.

Of the three general income tax bills now pending, the one drafted and sponsored by Governor Blaine appears to have the least chance of success in its present form, members assert. This situation exists, according to members of the finance committee, in spite of the threat of the governor that he intends to veto large appropriations unless his bill is accepted.

The past week in the legislature was one of sensational developments, leading to an indication of the senate attitude toward the governor's bill. During the present week this important measure is on the calendar for a vote on Thursday, while the Severson income surtax bill is likely to be reported from the finance committee. The Dahl general income tax bill is expected to be held in reserve for a short time.

Amendments to be Offered

A variety of amendments are to be offered to the Blaine income tax bill when it is reached on the senate calendar. Upon the acceptance of the amendments to be offered by socialist members will determine where their three votes are to be thrown, and probably the fate of the governor's bill.

They are asking complete repeal of the personal property offset to the income tax, payment of the tax in one installment and a larger proportion of returns to the cities. The governor said in his special message to the legislature, that to change these features of his bill would mean confiscation.

Administration senators say that they do not intend to vote for the proposed changes offered by the socialists and that they are still confident of enough support to push the bill through in face of the adverse finance committee report.

The largest number of votes that opposition senators will concede the administration is thirteen out of thirty-three for the Blaine bill. This number they say might be increased if the measure is so drastically amended as to change its form.

Severson Sees Victory

Senator Severson, author of the income surtax bill now pending in the finance committee, says that unless the measure changes he will probably have seventeen votes (a majority) for his bill. The senator is to go before the finance committee in connection with this bill, and it is thought that he will ask to have the measure reported to the floor without recommendation, to be fought out on its merits. It was much this same bill that passed the 1919 session of the legislature and was vetoed by Governor Philipp.

According to an agreement between Senator Severson and Speaker Dahl, the Dahl general income tax bill is to remain in the finance committee until action on the Severson bill.

OPERA "MARTHA" TO BE PRESENTED BY THE NORMAL

The seat sale for the Opera Martha to be given Thursday May tenth by the two Glee clubs of the Normal school under the direction of Mr. Joseph Leeder will open Tuesday at the box office of the La Crosse theater.

Lovers of good music have manifested keen interest in local production. The melodies of the opera are well known and will be well appreciated by the audience. The school has the best talent in the title role as well as the chorus and the entire cast are working every spare minute to make the opera the best.

Many of the departments are unifying and cooperating with Mr. Leeder to put the finishing touches on the opera. Miss Foxwell and Miss Angell of the Arts department are working on the different scenes. Miss Warren of the Home making department is working with her classes on the costumes of the cast. Mr. Lange of the Manual Arts department is helping with the stage setting. Mr. [illegible] of the English department is giving the general coaching of the play and is being assisted by Mr. Nohr and Miss Thompson of the Physical Education department, who are teaching the cast several clever dances. Mr. Leeder has been directing the school orchestra in the accompaniment of the opera.

SUICIDE DIVIDES MONEY BETWEEN HIS FRIENDS

IRON MOUNTAIN, Mich.—After dressing himself in his best clothes, spreading a blanket on the floor of his cabin with a mackinaw for a pillow and writing some notes to two of his close friends, requesting them to divide his money equally between them, Joseph Pins, 38, woodsman, shot himself through the heart with a rifle in his shack in the woods in Delta county.

NEW HIGHWAY MAPS PUBLISHED BY STATE RECEIVED BY STAATS

Copies of the 1923 official map of the state trunk highway system of Wisconsin, compiled and published by the Wisconsin highway commission, have been received by County Clerk Staats and now are being placed on sale at the courthouse. Besides the road maps, which show every state trunk highway in the state, also the kind of road it is, the booklet contains county statistics, distance finding table, brief history of Wisconsin, historic points, industrial points of interest, scenic features and a list of state properties. All of the state road markers are reproduced in pictures and enlighten the traveler on just what kinds of road signs to look for and what each kind of sign means.

UNION IS CALLED CURE FOR ILLS OF MINING INDUSTRY

Chiefs Offer Plan Designed to Eliminate Strikes and End Coal Shortage

WASHINGTON, D. C.—By The Associated Press.—Complete unionization of the bituminous industry and the abolition of "open shop" operations in West Virginia and other states would bring about cessation of strikes and elimination of coal shortage, officials of the United Mine Workers of America declare in arguments filed with the United States coal commission and made public on Sunday.

The arguments were prepared by William Green, international secretary treasurer of the union and Philip Murray, its vice president.

Green, asserting that strikes were constantly encountered in the operation of non-union mines, said that "union recognition and joint wage agreements provide the only way through which the coal industry can be stabilized."

"It may be charged by those opposed to union recognition and collective bargaining that if the United Mine Workers were completely organized they would strike and paralyze the industries of the nation at will," Mr. Green continued. "It must be frankly admitted that if this were true it would constitute a grave menace to the welfare, comfort and happiness of the American people.

Sentiment to Block Strike

The answer to this is:

"There could be no strike except at the termination of a contract period and then only in the event of a failure to agree on a new wage agreement.

"The moral responsibility of the operators and miners would be so great and solemn that they could not, except in extreme emergency, refuse to agree upon the terms and conditions of a fair and reasonable wage scale.

"Public sentiment is the court which compels recognition. No organization or group of men can successfully carry out a movement which is opposed to public sentiment."

OFFER BILL TO ABOLISH NORMAL AT EAU CLAIRE

Measure is First Step in Movement to Turn Normals Into Colleges Says Sponsor

MADISON, Wis.—The bill to abolish the Eau Claire normal school introduced in the assembly recently by its committee on education, is the first step in the plan to convert several of Wisconsin's nine normals into state colleges, according to Assemblyman J. D. Millar, chairman of the committee.

"We have more normals than we need, with the result that we have an over production of teachers" Mr. Millar said. "Some departments of the university are badly crowded and conversion of some normals into colleges would relieve this congestion. Wisconsin is bearing the burden of educating teachers from other Northwestern states, who may come here to attend our normals. We are willing to supply this education for citizens of other states, but would rather this education be general in character instead of training for the teacher profession. This would be accomplished by making colleges of some of our normal schools."

Mr. Millar said he believed the people of Eau Claire favored the proposed change in the school there. A hearing on the bill will be held by the committee this week.

WITNESS IN CONVICT DEATH INQUIRY DIES SUDDENLY SATURDAY

TALLAHASSEE, Fla.—Death of Jerry Poppell, chief witness for the prosecution in a peonage case against two Leon county officials that came as a result of an investigation into the demise of Martin Tabert, prisoner in a private convict camp, held the attention of authorities Monday. Poppell, formerly a jailer at Tallahassee, died at Quincy, Fla., Saturday night, as he was enroute to Pensacola to testify before a federal grand jury.

Although Mrs. Poppell said her husband during a lucid moment preceding his death, had muttered he had been poisoned, the attending physician said the former jailer died of apoplexy.

While appearing before a legislative committee investigating Tabert's death, Poppell testified that Sheriff Jones and Judge Willis had conspired to profit in the arrest and conviction of vagrants, who, when sentenced, were put to work in the convict camps. Sheriff Jones told the committee he received $20 for each man sent there.

STUDENTS CALLED IN INVESTIGATION OF MOUNT DEATH

Exhaustive Inquiry Planned by State's Attorney to Locate Guilty Parties

CHICAGO, Ill.—One hundred subpoenas have been issued for students and officials of Northwestern university and officials of Evanston, the North Shore home of the institution, to appear before the grand jury that Monday starts an investigation into the death of Leighton Mount, Northwestern freshman, whose skeleton was found underneath a lake front pier about eighteen months after he disappeared during, or subsequent to, a class rush between freshmen and sophomores. Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney, returned from his vacation to aid the grand jury.

State's attorney Crowe issued a statement intimating that, if necessary, he "would go through every fraternity and class group of students, and by process of elimination, find out who has guilty knowledge of the killing."

RADICALS CALL CONFERENCE ON RAIL SITUATION

the fact that President Harding is preparing to make the railroad problem one of the most vital issues of the Republican campaign next year.

Seek to Get "Jump" on Harding

Senator La Follette and his associates propose to get the jump on the administration in the railroad issue, although they do not know exactly what President Harding may propose to solve railroad ills. In connection with the announcement of the Chicago meeting, Senator La Follette said last night:

"The national conference on railroad valuation represents the first concerted movement to insure proper representation of the public interest in the valuation proceedings before the interstate commerce commission and the courts.

"When the committee on transportation, created by the conference of progressives, held on Dec. 1, 1922, undertook its study of the railroad situation, they were impressed by the fact that the key to almost all the perplexing problems of transportation was to be found in the valuation of the roads.

Public Not Represented

"They also discovered that the public interest was not being properly or adequately represented in the proceedings before the interstate commerce commission.

"They accordingly communicated with a number of governors, who expressed great interest in this situation on behalf of the people of their states and agreed to cooperate in bringing about a national conference to discuss and consider the matter.

"The movement for the equitable valuation of the railroads of the United States is not to be interpreted as an attack upon the interstate commerce commission. Up to the present time the commission has been in the position of having only one side—the railroads—adequately represented before it. We propose that in future the public interest shall be effectively and vigorously maintained, so that the commission will not be obliged to bear the entire burden of protecting the people's rights."

INSPECT OSHKOSH NORMAL

MADISON, Wis.—The joint committee on finance will visit the Oshkosh Normal school Monday to investigate the conditions of the buildings now used by the school. This inspection is to be made before the committee acts upon an appropriation request of $300,000 for new construction at the school.

ARTERIAL HIGHWAYS AND TRAFFIC COPS PROPOSED FOR CITY

ing this rule take up a great deal of space at the down-town curbs. The only new suggestion Mr. Adams had to offer was that three traffic policemen be delegated during the rush hours at the three principle Main street crossings down-town.

Mr. Adams said, also, that he believed Main street at least should be an arterial highway.

J. K. Kidder, in a letter to the Tribune, protests against un-authorized "no-parking" spaces, mentioning several instances. He proposes that the right to forbid parking be reserved for the city, in order to permit free use of all available curb space by the public. He also suggests that the city obtain bridges whereby cars can cross fire-hose without damage, instead of closing streets to traffic when the fire department has hose lines laid across them.

Against All Parking

The letter of Howard, manager of the street car company, which was printed Sunday, in which he proposed forbidding parking altogether on Main street, has caused much interested comment. Mr. Howard was also in favor of the arterial highway proposal.

Some of the letters received follow:

Enforce Present Rules

Editor, Tribune:

Mr. Howard of the street car company, in his proposals for traffic regulation in the city, centers his scheme about a return to a project that has already been tried and abandoned. It will be recalled that about three years ago a traffic ordinance was passed forbidding parking on Main street, and the protest that followed was so strong that the council repealed the ordinance at its next meeting.

I hesitate to recommend any changes in the traffic rules until the traffic ordinance now on the books is tried. We have rules, but they are ignored in the particular which makes the most difficulty down-town. The ordinance now provides for a parking limit of one hour on the streets on which street cars run. That is violated by wholesale every day. Merchants and office-men come down-town in the mornings and leave their cars standing all day at the curbs. The congestion would be greatly relieved if the police department would see that this violation is stopped.

With cars moving in and out every hour, at least, there would be much more room at the curbs. And one hour is ample time for most shopping expeditions. The trouble is not with the travelling public so much as it is with our own doctors, lawyers, merchants and office-workers.

Parking Limit Signs

The city could help the enforcement of this rule very greatly by placing signs at intervals on the curbs with some such legend as "Parking Limit One Hour." This would let the public know what to do, and a few prosecutions of offenders would do the rest.

The city has provided an excellent and ample parking space on Market Square, within a few minutes' walk of any part of the down-town district. Why don't the people who now hug the curbs all day long park there? That would at a stroke remove the chief cause of congestion.

Another point of the traffic ordinance that is violated continually is the rule against parking in the "loop" alleys. This is a most dangerous practice. The alleys should be kept clear at all times, for one never knows when the fire department may have to use one of them for a call to one of the down-town buildings, and they are too narrow for passage of the apparatus if there is a car parked in them.

As far as down-town traffic is concerned I feel that the present traffic ordinance will do very well, if enforced, with possibly one improvement. The improvement I would suggest is that during the rush hours, at noon, or at any rate at "quitting-time" in the evening, policemen be stationed as traffic officers at the intersections of Main street, with Third, Fourth and Fifth streets. The crowd going home in cars, and the crowd waiting for the street cars, with every one in a hurry, makes a daily succession of small accidents and near-accidents, and occasionally some serious ones. Traffic police just when they are needed they could be delegated from the regular force—would help things very much.

W. F. ADAMS.

Hits Private Parking Signs

Editor, Tribune:

Saw your editorial request the other day for suggestions on the traffic problem and have one or two to make.

On the parking feature, I believe it no more than right that the duly delegated authorities specify the parking zones. By this I mean I do not believe it proper to permit store occupants to arbitrarily say whether or not you can park in front of their places. Take South Fourth street for an example. On the east side of the street between Pearl and Jay streets, the V. Tausche Hardware company has up a sign "No parking". On the west side of the street the Tetley undertaking establishment has erected a similar sign. This, if the autoists heed it—and many do drive blocks futilely looking for a place to stop because of it—deprives us of space that would accommodate many cars. I am not mentioning these two places for any purpose other than illustration. The same is true elsewhere. For instance, the Standard Oil Company has grabbed all of the south side of State street at Fifth for roadway and their tanks. At that portion of the curb not taken by their roadway is space for cars but the Standard Oil has a private "No Parking" sign there.

Fire Hose Bridges

The same night you asked for suggestions Chief Webber announced in an interview that he intended arresting autoists who drive over fire hose lines. This seems unreasonable. If a fire happens downtown why detour all of the traffic because of it. Why not stop only that portion of the traffic that interferes with competent battling of the blaze? Instead of arresting autoists wouldn't it be much more sensible to have the fire department equip its apparatus with "bridges" such as are used in the city. The minute a line is placed these could be thrown over the hose and traffic could be resumed without injury to the hose or interference with the operation of the water supply.

I would also like to suggest that a system of signs which would thoroughly acquaint the motorist with the parking and driving ordinances on the streets bearing the signs be inaugurated. Ignorance is no excuse for law violation but the average motorist can't be expected to keep posted on all of the parking regulations, especially where they may vary for different streets and locations.

Wishing you every success in your efforts to straighten out the "punk" condition that has arisen with the flivver's advent, and trusting some good may be derived from the suggestions I am modestly submitting, I am sincerely yours,

JOS. K. KIDDER.

DR. LUST SPEAKS ON HOW TO BE HEALTHY BEFORE THE EAGLES

Noted New York Doctor Warns Against Menace of Birth Control to Posterity

Basing his statement upon the personal examination of over three thousand babies in New York, recently, Dr. Benedict Lust of that city, in an address at the Eagles' hall Sunday evening, stated that if birth control and the dangers to motherhood incident thereto become as prevalent in the whole country as in the east, the nation must look to its immigrants, not so well educated, for its healthy manhood and womanhood of the future. He stated that the healthiest babies in the east are those of the poorer classes and, peculiarly enough, the prize winner in the last health contest was one who had been raised on milk made by pulverizing nuts and adding warm water.

Dr. Lust who is the pioneer naturopath of this country, talked to a good sized audience on health and longevity and the relationship generally of good health to high mentality and morality.

He maintained that in order to have high ideals and be mentally efficient it is necessary to enjoy good health and recommended methods as close to nature as possible in striving to maintain good health. Uncooked vegetable foods, as little meat as consistent with strength, internal as well as external baths, a variation from the usual soap bath by frequent steam and mud baths and plenty of sunshine and exercise were among his recommendations. Uncooked vegetable meals at times, he urged also helped the housewife to avoid cooking drudgery.

Dr. Lust maintains large estates in Florida and New Jersey, well known to many La Crosse people.

HOLD UP TRAIN, KIDNAP 150 OF PASSENGERS

Men in Grave Danger

SHANGHAI.—By The Associated Press.—Miss Lucy Aldrich, sister-in-law of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and daughter of the late United States Senator Nelson W. Aldrich of Rhode Island, was reported Monday in a message from Lincheng, to have been released by the bandits who took her captive with the other passengers on the Shanghai-Peking express train.

The report said all the women captives had been freed, and that Miss McFadden and Miss Coralli were released with Miss Aldrich.

The men among the foreigners were said, however, to be in grave danger, since the bandits had notified the authorities that the male prisoners all would be killed unless troops were withdrawn.

Miss Aldrich is reported ill from her experiences. The Miss McFadden referred to in the dispatch is Miss Aldrich's companion. The Aldrich party, homeward bound from a world tour, reached Shanghai ten days ago. Miss Coralli is secretary to G. D. Musso, a prominent Italian attorney, who was among the captives.

Threatens Entente Cordiale

WASHINGTON.—By The Associated Press.—A situation apparently regarded as seriously menacing good relations between the United States and the Peking in China was described today by American Minister Schurman in the first official report to reach the state department regarding the capture of American citizens by bandits near the Shantung border.

The American minister is understood already to have made official representations on his own responsibility, and it is expected that he will be instructed by the government here to pursue the most vigorous course to secure the release of the prisoners unharmed.

The report was prepared by Mr. Schurman on the basis of information furnished him by an American citizen who was on the spot when the bandits attacked the tourist train on which many Americans were riding. It was indicated that so far as known none of those taken prisoner had been harmed, and the minister apparently was hopeful that they all would be released.

Situation Serious

Minister Schurman's report was dated Midnight May 6 at Tsinan-fu and described the situation as "very serious." A paraphrase made public by the department said:

"An express train which left Saturday morning from Shanghai was held up about 2 a. m. Sunday by bandits near Lincheng, in the province of Shantung.

"Out of twenty-six foreigners, nineteen were held captives, including a Mr. Powell of the Weekly Review.

"A Mr. Rothman a British subject was killed.

"The bandits are being pursued by a small force.

"Situation very serious. There is little information received so far.

"Have telegraphed Shanghai to inquire if there were other Americans on train.

"Information received from an American (unnamed) on the scene."

Will Demand Restitution

Should any American lose his life, the state department is prepared to make vigorous demands on the Peking authorities for restitution. Not only will suitable apologies be required, but indemnity must be paid and those responsible must be punished if good relations between the two governments are to continue. The incident is regarded as more serious in view of the fact that it comes during negotiations for a settlement of a controversy over an attack on another American, Charles Coltman, who was killed last fall by Chinese soldiers. For this the Chinese government already has made apologies and has indicated its willingness to pay indemnity, but it is regarded as likely that the negotiations will be halted until the Chinese authorities have shown a willingness to make adequate amends for the Shantung bandit raid.

Ohio Man Prisoner

TOLEDO, O.—Mrs. Negley B. Cochran, wife of the former editor of the Toledo News-Bee, received word from headquarters of the Scripps-Howard Newspaper Syndicate Monday that Mr. Cochran and daughter, Dorothy, are among those held captive by Chinese bandits in Shantung, China.

Powell, of Iowa, Held

HANNIBAL, Mo.—Verification of the capture of John B. Powell, former Missourian, by Chinese bandits was received Monday by J. P. Hinton of Hannibal, Powell's father-in-law, in a cablegram from Mrs. Powell, who is in Shanghai. The message stated that Powell had been captured in Shantung.

LEVITAN IS GRANDPA

MADISON, Wis.—State capitol employes have changed their familiar nickname of "Sol" Levitan. During the six years of political campaign, it was the custom to refer to the present state treasurer as "Uncle Sol." He was properly introduced to more audiences under that title than any other familiar cognomen. Now the capitol employes call him "Grandpa Sol." Sol Levitan became a grandfather within the past week, through the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Goldstein of Winnipeg.

FEDERAL ATTORNEY AT MILWAUKEE IS INJURED IN FALL

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Edward Miller, U. S. district attorney, suffered a possible skull fracture in an elevator accident at the federal building Monday. Mr. Miller was taken to Emergency hospital.

Mr. Miller was getting into an elevator, and had one foot on it, when the elevator started upward. He was thrown backward, his head hitting the tile floor with considerable force.

Mr. Miller assumed office about two months ago, succeeding H. A. Sawyer, resigned. His home is in Marinette.

BRANCH OPERATIONS OF NATIONAL BANKS UNDER COURT FIRE

Wisconsin Among Eleven States Disputing Right to Establish Branch Banks

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The supreme court held a special session Monday to hear argument in a case involving the right of national banks to establish branches and the enforcibility of state laws prohibiting such branches.

The case reached the court on an appeal brought by the First National Bank of St. Louis to have reviewed the decision of the Missouri court upholding the law of that state prohibiting branch banks. Eleven states, including Wisconsin and Minnesota, were permitted by the court, as friends, to intervene and file briefs. All of the states have laws prohibiting branch banking, some of the laws also applying to state banks. They expressed apprehension that branch banking by national banks would gradually result in the elimination of state banks.

The First National bank insisted in its argument that national banks are not subject to restriction in the matter of their rights and powers by state laws, but, being chartered by the federal government, are in such matters solely under the jurisdiction of the federal government. It denied that the federal statutes prohibited national banks from establishing branches.

The eleven intervening states asserted in their brief that "branch banking is thoroughly undesirable; that from a public standpoint it is objectionable in every respect. . . . that it is detrimental to the best interests of the public and should be done away with."

SUNDAY PATRONS OF THE RIVOLI LIKE VAUDEVILLE

Sunday patrons of the Rivoli Theater were pleased with the vaudeville and pictures shown. The program offers a pleasing variety and each number represents the best in its line.

Dallas Walker, The Girl From Texas, opens the program with her clever imitations of Will Rogers' line of tricks and sayings. Next come Harry and Kitty Sutton who present their own original comedy, "The Powderpuff Girl." This act offers many pleasing surprises and was well liked by the audience.

Gaffney and Walton almost start a riot with their "Laugh Cure." They have the crowds laughing with them and at them all through their act. Petty Reat and Brother give the audience something entirely new in their act. They play popular song numbers on a row of bottles and an accordian. This act hit the spot with the audience and the performers had to answer two encores.

Last on the program came the Four Gypsy Wanderers. These four people present an act all too seldom seen in vaudeville. It consists of gypsy dances and the reproduction of opera scenes and songs. Their act was elaborately staged and costumed and was a big hit with the audiences. This bill in conjunction with "The Tiger's Claw," runs Monday and Tuesday.

ASSEMBLY VOTES TO MOVE GUARD OFFICE TO CAMP DOUGLAS

MADISON, Wis.—Removal of the adjutant general's office from Madison to the Wisconsin military reservation at Camp Douglas was favored by the assembly Monday when it voted 43 to 11 to engross the Price bill. In addition to changing the location of the adjutant general's office, this measure reduces his salary from $5,000 annually to $4,000 and provides for a consolidation of the subordinate offices of the department.

U. S. ASKS MINNESOTA TO RETURN INDIAN LANDS

WASHINGTON.—The federal government was granted permission Monday by the supreme court to file an original bill against Minnesota for the return of Chippewa Indian lands claimed to have been erroneously patented to the state under the swamp act and for an accounting of the timber cut on the lands.

FIND STOLEN LIQUOR ON STALLED TRUCK

JANESVILLE, Wis.—A truck stalled in the road near Genoa Junction Sunday night and abandoned by drivers, was found to contain $25,000 of liquors stolen from the summer home of Frank Rehm of Chicago, at Lake Geneva, Wis.

REACTION SENDS PRICES TUMBLING ON STOCK MARKET

Flood of Orders Started Saturday on Orders Backed by Worthless Checks

NEW YORK.—Prices on the New York stock exchange were sent tumbling Monday by the reaction from heavy buying started on a flood of orders which it was disclosed were backed by worthless checks, drawn on several Pennsylvania banks.

More than a score of worthless checks were received by Wall street houses over the week-end.

One of the checks was for $15,000, drawn on the Keystone National Bank of Reading, Pa., to cover buying orders in Westinghouse, Reading and American Car & Foundry. Others accompanied orders to buy New York Central stock. Reports from Philadelphia and Boston said brokers in those cities had received similar bogus checks.

The checks in almost every case bore forged certifications, which tricked some of the brokers into executing buying orders for large blocks of stock. Selling operations started when the fraud was discovered, sent prices down, practically the entire list being carried to new low levels.

THE QUESTION NOW IS—WHO WERE THE REAL ELOPERS

Jack Fitzpatrick, veteran motorcycle cop, arises to announce that when George Muenzenberger and Raymond Sietten, with their lady friends, were held under false suspicion of being elopers in Winona a week ago Sunday, it was none of his doings.

When he saw the story in the Sunday Tribune in which Muenzenberger attributed the incident to a joke played by the speedsquelcher, Fitz was surprised. "That's the bunk," said he. "The Winona police just got them mixed up with somebody else, I guess. Anyhow, I'm not responsible. Sure we had a kidding match when they started out but that's as far as it went with me. I'd never play a friend of mine a trick like that."

Now the question is—who were the La Crosse elopers the Winona police thought they had when they held the La Crosse quartet? They must have been looking for somebody. Who, d'you suppose? And did they elude the guards?

BRAKEMAN SEEKING DIVORCE; SAYS WIFE CHOKED, BEAT HIM

Frank H. Brose, railroad brakeman, has filed suit for divorce from his wife, Mrs. Stella Brose, on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment and abusive language. They were married in Winona, Nov. 27, 1916. Brose alleges that his wife threatened his life with a butcher knife on several occasions, once choked him as he lay in bed and told him she would kill him if he didn't turn his money over to her. Brose also declared his wife accused him of associating with other women and would not believe that he was called on extra freight runs, insisting on calling up the railroad office to verify his statements, thus humiliating him. Mrs. Brose has not filed any answer as yet.

THREE BUFFALO NETS SEIZED IN WIGWAM, BROKEN GUN SLOUGHS

Conservation Warden Gautsch confiscated three buffalo nets in waters of the Mississippi river where seining is prohibited. The hauls were made on Sunday by the game warden. Two of the nets were in Broken Gun slough and one in Wigwam slough. Fish caught in the nets were thrown back in sloughs. No arrests have been made as yet.

HANNIBAL CHOATE DIES IN WINONA

Word was received in La Crosse today of the death of Hannibal Choate, Sr., well known merchant of Winona, at the age of 88 years. He has been a merchant in Winona for 61 years. N. M. Scott, former La Crosse merchant, has been general manager of the Choate store for several years.

RACE IN MAJOR LEAGUE DISCLOSES COMPETITION KEENER THAN OTHER YEARS

CHICAGO, Ill.—By The Associated Press.—Nearing the finish of three weeks of play the races in both major baseball leagues have disclosed keener competition all down the line than in most seasons. There were only four places in the American league when play started Monday, one team was in first, two in second, one in third and four tied for fourth and three tied for third in the National.

Though they lost to the Philadelphia Athletics the sensation team of the season, five to one before 55,000 people, the New York Yankees managed to start on a road trip in first place as both Detroit and Cleveland lost. By defeating Boston four to one, Washington became level with the Red Sox and enabled Chicago, which won its third straight from Detroit, four to three, and St. Louis, which won from Cleveland 5 to 4, to go into a four cornered tie for fourth place.

Chicago and Pittsburgh both lost ground in the National by losing while New York and Boston were idle. Through its victory over the Cubs, 12 to 4, St. Louis went into a tie for third place with Pittsburgh, which lost to Cincinnati 8 to 7. Brooklyn made a motion toward getting out of the cellar by downing Philadelphia 7 to 4.

Rogers Hornsby, leading major home run hitter last year made two circuit swats, bringing his total to four this season, and Charlie Grimm, Pirate first sacker, hit safely, keeping his consecutive record for the season clear. He now has hit in the nineteen games played this season.

Jacques Fournier, traded to Brooklyn by St. Louis, who said he would not play there, yesterday made his first appearance with the Robins and failed to get a hit.

Tris Speaker of the Indians, because it is alleged he got exceedingly "lippy" toward Umpire Ormsby, Wednesday at Detroit, has been suspended for a spell.

Walter Johnson, the grand old flinger of Washington, not only pitched the Senators to victory yesterday, but drove a triple which scored the winning runs.

GEORGES COMES BACK BUT FIGHT EXPERTS ARE NOT SATISFIED

Frenchman Knocks Out Nilles in Eighth of a Scheduled Fifteen Round Bout

PARIS—Although Georges Carpentier's comeback against Marcel Nilles gave him the French heavyweight title, experts who saw him knock out Nilles in the eighth round of a scheduled fifteen round battle, Saturday were not impressed with "Gorgeous Georges'" showing. In fact it seemed as though a harder fighter than Nilles could have put Carpentier away in either the second or third round.

The dash and the spirit that marked the Georges who once made a pilgrimage to Boyle's Thirty Acres were tempered by a cautiousness that let Nilles maintain a punishing offensive throughout the first five rounds. Carpentier seemed to suffer severely from the attack on his stomach, which Nilles varied with lefts to the face.

In the sixth, however, Carpentier opened with an uppercut that fell short, landing on the body. Nilles declared that the blow was foul, but Bernstein, the referee, refused to recognize the contention. The champion finished the rest of that round and the entire seventh with difficulty and went down for the final count in the eighth when Carpentier put over a right to the jaw.

MAYOR VERCHOTA fired the first ball on the occasion of the opening of the season at Copeland park Sunday afternoon. L. F. Easton, of the park board, at the receiving end, took plenty of precaution in arming himself with a mask and the regulation catcher's protector mounted on his back. However, as it came about, all the surplus apparel and even the mit was useless, for the mayor's peg intended in the general direction of the park official, was wild, and the latter merely saluted as the sphere passed him by and bounced off the grandstand somewhere between the plate and third base. But then, a mayor isn't supposed to pitch.

* * * *

THE mayor and Mr. Easton occupied a seat in the press box during the game, staying until the last ball was pitched.

* * * *

THE playing generally Sunday was good, though a few "boners" were pulled, and the pitching in the last three innings left much to be desired. Fitzke fouled in attempting to bunt on the third strike and was out with two men on base in the second. Schaefer batted out of turn in the third, and two or three times during the game players made slight errors in judgments.

* * * *

HOWEVER, it was the first game of the season, and such things must be overlooked. Both clubs are much stronger than they were last season, and some great baseball may be expected this year, after the season gets under way.

DO YOU KNOW BASEBALL?

Questions

ONE—Can a batsman be removed any time, even if he is a pinch hitter and has had several balls pitched to him.

TWO—Does the umpire ever make a ruling on a play where the runner misses a base unless an appeal is made to him?

THREE—If two are out and a runner on first is hit by a batted ball, which retires the side, does the batsman get credit for a hit?

FOUR—What is the penalty if a batsman changes from one side of the plate to the other while the pitcher is in the act of delivering the ball?

FIVE—When a glove is thrown at a batted or thrown ball must it stop the ball to have a penalty inflicted?

Answers

ONE—A batsman can be removed at any time and another player substituted for him. If several balls have been pitched he simply takes the count that existed on the batsman.

TWO—The umpire never makes a ruling on a play in which the runner misses a base unless the play is properly made and the umpire is appealed to for a ruling.

THREE—At all times when a runner is hit by a batted ball and declared out, the batsman receives credit for a hit.

FOUR—The batsman has no such right and is declared out for so doing.

FIVE—All that is necessary for a penalty to be inflicted for throwing a glove at a batted or thrown ball is to have contact with the ball.

PEERLESS CHAINS TRIM WINONAS IN OPENER ON SUNDAY

"Cannonball" Moss was the outstanding star for the Winona Peerless Chains in their victory over Lefty Hier and the Winonas Sunday in the opening game. The Chains won, 4 to 3.

Moss drove in the winning run after the score was tied in the ninth inning with a three-bagger and his single in the second inning scored the first marker for the winners. Hier whiffed 13 men, allowing 10 hits, while Moss struck out 12 and permitted 7 hits.

LOKKENS DEFEAT SHIRVENS AT WEST AVENUE FIELD, 16-8

The Lokkens defeated the Shirvens at West avenue Sunday morning in a loosely contested affair by a score of 16 to 8. The Shirvens pushed across 6 of their 8 runs in the second and third innings when L. Olson, pitching for Lokkens, failed to get the ball over the plate. O. Olson, who relieved him, pitched well and allowed the Shirvens but a few scattered hits.

The Lokkens will meet Onalaska at the agricultural school grounds next Sunday morning.

BADGERS SURPRISE FOLLOWERS SATURDAY BY BATTLING ILLINI TO STANDSTILL FOR 8 SESSIONS

BY BOB DUNN

Wisconsin surprised her own baseball followers last Saturday by battling the champion Illini to a standstill for eight innings. It was only in the last frame that things went wrong for the Badgers, enabling the champs to do the unexpected and win by a 4 to 1 count.

Johnson did the throwing for Wisconsin and Jackson for Illinois. Both were in tip-top condition and a battle royal resulted. Effective fielding, however, pulled Johnson out of several holes in the first part of the game and superb hurling on the part of Jackson also took him out of several bad messes.

The Badgers had many chances to cross the plate early in the game but in no case were they able to grasp their opportunity. In the second, for instance, Tebell clouted a triple with one down but was caught on a rundown between third and home when signals went wrong with Gibson at the plate.

In the third Wisconsin had another opportunity to score and in the fifth passed up still another chance. Gibson was sent to first on an error, went to second on Combacker's sacrifice, and to third on Jackson's misplay of Johnson's bounder. Williams then sent a long fly to Roettger but Gibson did not make an attempt to score and Ellingson ended the frame by grounding out.

Johnson was in hot water in the fourth but got out with the aid of some brilliant fielding. Hellstrom was walked and took second on an error by Holm. Vogel, heavy hitting Illini, poled a terrific blow into center field. Gibson ran way back onto the running track and grabbed the fly after a brilliant spurt. Combacker of Wisconsin also joined the ranks of the day's stars by his sensational scoop of Hellstrom's fast grounder in the eighth.

Each team scored once in the eighth and the Illini came into the ninth intent on breaking up the old game which they succeeded in doing. Kneil started with a hit and Happeny was safe when an attempted sacrifice was booted by Aschenbrenner. Holm then missed Stewart's grounder, filling the sacks. A long fly brought in Kneil and a single by Roettger brought in two more counts before Johnson retired the side.

The game was easily the best college game seen at Camp Randall this season. Although Iowa succeeded in downing the Illini in one of their two games, Coach Lundgren's outfit is still the heavy favorite for another conference baseball title.

JOHNSON-LODGE BOUT IS STOPPED AT FOURTH ROUND

Minnesota Fighter Floored on an Alleged Foul Punch; Bout Postponed

HAVANA.—The bout between Jack Johnson, former holder of the world's heavyweight title, and Walter (Farmer) Lodge, the Minnesota fighter, was terminated at the end of the fourth round early Monday after Lodge had been floored by a blow which he said was foul.

Johnson led in the first three rounds of rather tame fighting. In the fourth Lodge was knocked down by a left to the stomach and time was called while physicians examined him. After a half-hour it was announced that the bout would be postponed a week. Persons at the ringside expressed the opinion that the alleged foul was unintentional. Johnson weighed in at 212 pounds and Lodge was three pounds heavier.

Kinks o' the Links by "PRO"

In drawing from the tee directly into the sun, the player loses sight of his ball entirely. Not having the slightest idea where his ball went he drives a second ball from the tee. The player has a mark of identification on his golf balls. The second ball went far into the rough. In going after his second ball the player discovers the first ball in a good lie on the fairway. What ball should be played?

Under the rules the player was within his rights in playing a second ball. Finding his first ball, he must abandon the second shot. There is no penalty attached, play merely being continued with the first ball as though nothing had happened.

* * * *

A player's ball is on the green about three feet from the hole. A large-size worm is lying on the green on a direct line between the ball and hole. The worm creates the old mental hazard. The player in order to remove the actual hazard as well as the mental one brushes the worm aside with his club head prior to making the putt. Has he such a right?

The player has a perfect right to remove the worm, under the rules it being considered loose impediment. However, to remove it and escape penalty he must pick it up.

WISCONSIN TENNIS TEAM IN CLEAN-CUT WINS OVER GOPHERS

Caliber of Play Indicates Team Has Chance at Conference Title this Year

BY BOB DUNN

Wisconsin's tennis team started the season in unexpected form last week-end by taking the Minnesota stars into camp handily, winning clean cut victories in each of the six matches. The Badgers showed much improvement over their work against Iowa the previous week and the caliber of their play against the Gophers indicated that they have a chance at the conference title.

All but two of the matches were won by Wisconsin in straight sets. Art. Moulding of Wisconsin, however, was forced to go three sets to defeat Kuhlman in the last match of the afternoon. Bros and Pidgeon of Minnesota put up a beautiful extra set argument before finally succumbing to Tredwell and Angesen, the Badger doubles stars.

BADGERS DO THE UNEXPECTED; BEAT MAROONS IN TRACK

By BOB DUNN

Although Wisconsin went into their dual track meet with Chicago on the midway last Saturday, considered the under dog, Coach Jones' proteges did the unexpected and downed the Maroons on their own field by the count of 73¼ to 63¾. The Badgers were especially strong in the distance runs.

SENATE COMMITTEE PLANS HEARING ON STRIKE MEDIATION

Teasdale Bill Requiring Arbitration of Industrial Disputes Up for Discussion

MADISON, Wis.—Compulsory arbitration of all industrial troubles in Wisconsin will be the subject of discussion before the senate committee on judiciary Tuesday afternoon. At the suggestion of the committee, a conference of five representatives of labor and five representatives of employers will be held with the committee. This conference is being held at the suggestion of Leo Lamfrom, a Milwaukee attorney.

The conference is called as the result of an argument during the past week over the Teasdale bill which provided that in case of any threatened industrial trouble the matter must be submitted to the state industrial commission. Labor trouble must beheld in obeyance under terms of the Teasdale bill, for 30 days while the industrial commission is making its investigation. If the matter cannot be settled at the end of thirty days period the industrial commission must make full findings of fact in the case and give these findings the widest publicity. The idea back of the bill is to force a settlement of industrial disputes through public opinion.

It was contended at the hearing that the Teasdale bill did not go far enough and that some provision should be made by which the order of the industrial commission in settling a labor dispute would be binding. It was to take up this phase of the subject that a conference was agreed upon by Sen. Teasdale. Senator Wm. Quick of Milwaukee will represent the laboring interests before the hearing and there are to be five representatives of labor attending. Mr. Lamfrom is to represent the interest of the employers.

THE TIGER'S CLAW A SUCCESS

Jack Holt's latest paramount starring vehicle, "The Tiger's Claw," opened with great success at the Rivoli theatre last evening. The scenes of this splendid production are laid in India, where Mr. Holt as Sam Sandell is employed as an engineer. Mr. Holt is clawed by a tiger and the fever of the tropics takes hold of him. On his recovery, a band of thugs wishing to drive the white people from their country, plot against him and would succeed were it not for the intervention of Sandell's native wife who tells him of the plot. The woman is killed and Sandell, who loves the daughter of his employer, is free to marry her, but not until many thrilling incidents take place, among them the blowing up of the huge dam, which Sandell has built. This is a fitting climax for one of the fastest moving productions seen here in many a day. Eva Novak heads a strong supporting cast.

CASINO TODAY

Betty Price, clever comedienne of the stage and screen, claims that the discontented wife, "Gladys Laird," whom she portrays in "Hearts Haven," is a typical character from life today and the cause of so many failures among men since our present era of luxury and jazz.

"Many women through their eternal nagging and discontent, do not realize that they are developing failures, husbands who will never rise from mediocrity, who look upon life as a burden, work as a necessary evil, with a fiend wife a tempest to face at the end of the day's work."

"Heart's Haven" is being shown at the Casino theatre today.

"YOU CAN'T FOOL YOUR WIFE" COMING

George Melford's latest Paramount production, "You Can't Fool Your Wife," is due for showing at the Rivoli theatre Wednesday. This is said to be a highly entertaining domestic drama of high life in which Leatrice Joy, Lewis Stone, Nita Naldi and Pauline Garon play the featured roles. The supporting company is of the finest grade.

STRAND TODAY

Harold Lloyd got a wonderful kick out of a discussion between two boys who were working on his set during the production of "Safety Last," his latest seven-reel Pathe comedy.

Murphy, who had fought with the Lafayette Escadrille, and later was transferred to the American Air Forces, won the D. S. C., Croix de Guerre, and, in fact, so many medals fell to his lot that he was round shouldered wearing them. Strother had never done anything more daring than to climb the side of a thirty-story building.

"You know, Murph," said the "Human Fly," "I wouldn't take a chance in one of those fool planes. I'd be afraid it would fall, and kill me."

"Yet," said Murph, "I haven't any more nerve than a rabbit. I wouldn't climb a two-story building for all the money in the world."

No wonder Harold chuckled.

WILD ANIMAL PICTURE AT THE RIVIERA

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson soon are going back into the African jungle for more pictures. They will spend five years there. They do not count on returning alive—though they hope to—for they will penetrate even beyond Lake Paradise, which no member of the white race except themselves has ever reached. With the best of luck it will be 1928 before there will be available again such pictures of big game as "Trailing African Wild Animals," at the Riviera today.

SPANISH PRIEST CALLS QUEEN'S DRESS IMMORAL

LONDON.—A stir has been caused throughout Spain by a sermon preached by Father Calasanz in which he attacked the mode of dress of the queen and court ladies as immoral. The sermon was delivered before a fashionable congregation.

Father Calasanz hung in front of his pulpit pictures from a society paper of several of the ladies of the court. The most prominent position was occupied by recent portraits of the queen.

Naturally, the rising generation gets out of bounds.

WISCONSIN PLANS TO IMPROVE ROAD TO WINONA BRIDGE

Dangerous Stretch to be Safeguarded if Winona Will Abolish Bridge Tolls

Announcement that the sum of $205,000 will be spent this season in improvement of the five-mile stretch of highway between Winona and Marshland, including the dike road between the interstate bridge and Bluff Siding, is contained in a letter from the Wisconsin highway department received today by J. R. Chappell, president of the Winona Association of Commerce.

The project, when completed, will not only meet the demand of many years standing for a safeguarded dike road, but will also provide a much needed improvement in the highway linking Winona with La Crosse, Galesville, Arcadia, Whitehall, and other Wisconsin towns by elimination of unsatisfactory conditions in the road between Bluff Siding and Marshland, it was pointed out.

The only condition laid down by the Wisconsin highway department to execution of the project is that the toll on the Winona high wagon bridge be removed. Half of the fund for the project is to be furnished by the federal government, which is said to be hostile to assisting in financing roads leading to toll bridges.

The Winona city council two years ago formally declared its readiness to remove the toll if the dike road were safeguarded before April 1, 1922. The improvement was not made and the council's offer lapsed. The Association of Commerce, at a recent meeting, adopted a resolution urging the council to agree once more to remove the toll when the dike improvement is completed. A similar resolution was adopted by the Kiwanis and Rotary clubs.

FATHER LYNCH'S POST IS MADE PERMANENT

DULUTH, Minn.—Rt. Rev. Mgr D. W. Lynch has been made permanent rector of the St. James Catholic parish of West Duluth by Bishop John T. McNicholas of the Duluth diocese. Father Lynch has been in charge of St. James parish for seventeen years, coming here from Brainerd, and is one of the veteran priests of the diocese.

70 HEAD GUERNSEYS SOLD

MARSHFIELD, Wis.—Seventy head of Guernsey cattle were sold Wednesday at an average price of $177 each. The top price paid for a bull was $430 and for a cow $370. Buyers attended from Maryland, Pennsylvania, Nebraska and Minnesota.

BREAKFAST IN A HURRY

Ask for Quick Quaker Oats if you want breakfast in a hurry. It cooks in from 3 to 5 minutes—as well as an hour could cook it. No other oat flakes on the market cook anywhere near so quickly.

The same delicious flavor as regular Quaker Oats. Flaked from the finest grains only. But in Quick Quaker the oats are cut before flaking. They are rolled very thin and partly cooked. So the flakes are smaller and thinner—that is all. And those small, thin flakes cook quickly.

Your grocer has both styles—the Quick and the regular. If you want this quick cooking ask for Quick Quaker.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK—Speculative sentiment was still unsettled at the opening of Monday's stock market, but gains exceeded in initial dealings. New York Central was the outstanding strong spot, gaining 2½ points. American Tobacco advanced 1⅜ and Mack Truck 1⅞, while large fractional gains were recorded by Baldwin, Cuba Cane Sugar preferred, Davison Chemical and American Ice, Studebaker and United States Steel common yielded slightly to selling pressure.

Bear traders resumed their attacks on the market after the early buying orders had been absorbed. Baldwin was again the target, being hammered down to 126, a new low record for the year and 1¼ points below Saturday's final quotation. New York Central and Corn Products each forfeited two points of their earlier 2½ point gains. California Petroleum and Du Pont also dropped two points each, while United Drug firsts preferred, Panama Petrol, Studebaker and Beech Nut Packing yielded 1 to 1½ points. American Woolen and American Water Works, each advanced a point. United States Steel common also established a new low price for the year at 101⅝, off one. Foreign exchanges opened irregular. Demand sterling advanced ⅛ of a cent to $4.62¼ and French francs dropped eight points to 6.58 cents. German marks slumped from .0023 to .0027⅝ cent.

Another considerable slice was taken off the prices of the leading stocks during the course of the afternoon selling. Declines were rather violent in shares which had been unduly advanced in the late bull market but all quarters of the list exhibited considerable weakness. Bears were in high feather, the unresisting qualities of higher grade investment shares inducing active short selling. United States Steel got down close to par, touching 100¼. Stewart-Warner broke 12½ points, Stromberg Carburetor 5¼, Du Pont 5, Baldwin, California Petroleum and Gulf States Steel 4. Losses elsewhere from two to three points were numerous.

The closing was heavy. The reactionary tendency of prices continued throughout the late dealings. United States Steel common broke to par for the first time this year, Stromberg Carburetor dropped nearly 10 points, Du Pont eight and Beech Nut 3¾. In the last few minutes extensive short coverings rallied many of the leaders a point or more. Sales approximated 1,490,000 shares.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, Ill.—Persistent liquidating sales by small holders had a bearish effect on the wheat market Monday during the early dealings. Declines, however, were minimized, in view of the fact that Liverpool quotations continued to show relative strength. Smallness of world shipments to Great Britain was reported as a bullish factor at Liverpool. Chicago opening prices, which varied from ⅛c decline to ⅝c advance, with July $1.16¾ to $1.17, and September $1.15½ to $1.15¾, were followed by slight gains in some cases and then by a setback all around to well below Saturday's finish.

Rallies failed to last. Weakness in stocks and cotton was largely responsible for the wheat selling. Prices closed heavy, ⅝ to 1⅝c net lower with July $1.17⅝ to $1.16 and September $1.14⅝ to $1.14½.

Corn and oats receded with wheat. After opening unchanged to ⅛c higher, July 78½ to 78⅝c, the corn market underwent a material decline.

Oats started ⅛c off to ⅛c up, July 44 to 44⅛c, hardened a trifle and then declined for all deliveries.

Subsequently liquidation set in and many orders to sell out were automatically brought into play on the downward swing of prices. The close was unsettled, ¾ to 1¼c net lower, July 77¾ to 77½c.

Provisions were sharply lower, reflecting weakness of hog values and of grain.

COUNTY CALF CLUB WORK

SOMETHING was needed to hold the interest of the boys and girls in the farm home. The family problem was not sufficient. The boys and girls needed a personal problem. The tilling of the soil, the feeding of the herd, milking the cows and marketing the butterfat as an abstract proposition did not penetrate the consciousness of the boys and girls on the farm. It was a part of the daily routine. The proceeds went into the common fund. The part played by the younger members of the family in this daily routine became drudgery which too often they sought to escape for something which they could more easily understand. They craved a task in which they could perform a distinct part and receive distinct benefits. Contrary to popular ideas, it is not always entertainment and social diversion which the young people on the farm crave so much as it is an interest in some of the common affairs of life which shall accord not only promise of financial profits but absorption in a definite task. The boys and girls on the farm are men and women in miniature. They crave responsibilities, they crave work, the sort of work which has joy and satisfaction in it, the sort of work which is its own reward.

It was somebody who had made a close study of life on the farm who conceived this calf club work. It was a man who knew and understood child life on the farm and who appreciated its handicaps who took up the work and promoted it here in Wisconsin.

Thousands of boys and girls are being saved to the farms by being given a chance to conduct a little business enterprise of their own. And in addition to being saved to the farm, they are learning to do something which is going to be of great practical value to them all through life. They are learning not alone the scientific steps of caring for an animal in such a way as to make it yield a profit but they are taught the necessary business procedure which should accompany such an undertaking such as financing the undertaking and marketing their product. Not all of these boys and girls are successful but when they fail they have the opportunity to see why they failed, to see why some of their competitors succeeded. Some of these embryo farmers have been so successful as to get well on the way to opulence while yet in their teens and some of them have been paying for an education out of the profits of their projects.

It is quite worth while to anyone interested in educational work to attend the annual exhibit and round-up when the successful baby beef producers of the state are the guests of the College of Agriculture each fall at Madison. This year the show will be held October 24-26. The keen intelligence and aggressive spirit of these youthful farmers is a revelation to the student of juvenile life. He who assumes that the boy and girl from the farm home lacks anything in facility of expression or knowledge of the work in comparison with his city bred neighbor will be quickly undeceived.

These boys and girls of the calf clubs will be outstanding figures in the coming generation of men and women. They are learning the elements of the most important business there is in the way it should be learned. Too many learn the business of farming by beginning at the wrong end. That is why we have so many unsuccessful farmers who are dissatisfied with their lot and who want to turn the world all topsy turvy.

Any home is a good home if the things we love are there. Any business is a good business if we are interested in it and make a scientific study of it and learn all there is to know about it. The calf club project is giving the boys and girls something to live for, something to work for, something to love, and that means contentment wherever it is.—W. McNeel, State Boys' and Girls' Club Leader.

COUNTY CONFERENCE OF HOME MAKERS AT ONALASKA TUESDAY

The annual conference of the Home Makers' clubs of La Crosse county will be held at Onalaska, in the county agricultural school, on Tuesday, May 8. The conference will open at 10 o'clock in the morning and continue until late in the afternoon. At noon a lunch will be served.

A pleasing and instructive program has been arranged by the committee in charge.

Keep out of jail if you can. Jail is too confining.

MEXICAN BAND TO BE HEARD AT THE NEXT STATE FAIR

Mexico Sending 86-piece Band to Wisconsin; May Complete Grandstand this Year

MADISON, Wis.—The government of Mexico is sending to this year's State fair, August 27 to September 1, inclusive, the Mexican National Police band of eighty-six star musicians. With the band comes an exhibit showing raw materials Mexico has to offer the rest of the world.

Secretary Oliver E. Remey has received a telegram from the Mexican government saying that the band and exhibit are sent in response to invitations sent to President Obregon last fall by Governor Blaine; Mayor Hoan of Milwaukee; the Association of Commerce of Milwaukee; and the State fair. The Mexican National Police band includes instructors and band leaders of Mexico.

There will be no carnival company at this year's State fair. Instead a contract has been entered into for twelve of the latest riding devices.

Although for several years the State fair has been among the cleanest big fairs in America, this year will see a strict weeding out of all so-called games of skill which do not treat the patron fairly.

If state finances will permit, it is planned to complete the mammoth concrete grand stand, for which an appropriation was made four years ago, and which money was not expended because of co-operation with the state administration in keeping down expenses during the depression years of 1921 and 1922. Completion of the grand stand will mean an additional revenue of $25,000.

The State fair is planning to accommodate 25,000 automobiles on the grounds this year.

"The 1923 premium book will be mailed to 25,000 prospective exhibitors by May 20. Premium offerings remain at $125,000, what they have been for the past three years.

The dairy show will be an all-Wisconsin show, and it will be even stronger than the 1922 show, which was pronounced the best dairy display at any state fair.

Every effort will be made in 1923 to attain 350,000 paid admissions, which will mean a self-supporting State fair.

On May 1 the office of the State fair was opened on the State Fair grounds.

THIS EGG DIFFERS WITH ALL OF 'EM; TWO IN ONE KIND

Along with the big eggs and freaks eggs recorded on this page from time to time, is now listed a freak of a different sort.

When H. A. Payne, 1928 Wood street, gathered the eggs from his hen house one morning he found a mammoth specimen measuring 8 1-4 by 7 inches. Opening it he found inside another egg, of normal size and perfectly formed, with hard shell and all.

Mr. Payne has Plymouth Rock poultry.

ORCHARD SPRAYING NOW BEING DONE IN LA CROSSE COUNTY

County Agent W. E. Spreiter reports that good headway is being made with the spraying of orchards in the county this year. The work is now being done in many parts of the county. In several instances farmers have organized spray rings, going "fiftyfifty" in purchasing the sprayers, which they plan also to use in white washing barns and other farm buildings.

MARKET REVIEW OF PAST WEEK

CHICAGO, [illegible]—Severe tumbles in price that were witnessed in the wheat market last week appeared due largely to [illegible] associated with a downward slide of stock quotations to new low records for the year. Compared with a week ago wheat showed [illegible] to [illegible] decline, with corn off [illegible] to [illegible], oats [illegible] to [illegible] and provisions [illegible] to [illegible].

[illegible] on the part of numerous traders who wished to avoid accepting delivery of wheat on May contracts also subjected the wheat market severely to an unusual bearish influence, and the bull side was further [illegible] by the fact that a leading authority had issued a statement indicating the winter crop this year would total [illegible] bushels whereas previous figures from other experts had put the amount at [illegible] bushels. It was at this juncture that breaks in the stock market began to shake confidence on the part of the wheat bulls.

Improvement of crop conditions west and southwest counted as a further bearish influence as to wheat, and so too did rejection of German debt settlement proposals. Opposite factors such as freezing temperatures in parts of the [illegible] crop area and lack of adequate moisture in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois failed to get much notice, the renewal of stock market weakness proving of absorbing interest for at least the time being. Then with flour trade reported slow, demand for wheat near end of the week [illegible] to be restricted temporarily to speculators who were in a position to collect profits.

Large shipments of corn out of Chicago, the first of the season, helped to give relative steadiness to the market for corn and oats.

Provisions were weakened in value because of the liberal quantity of lard and meats on hand in warehouses for April [illegible] western stock of cut meats showed the largest gain in [illegible] years.

HERE'S ANOTHER

Maybe the hen swallowed a watch dial, or maybe it is a new system of telling when the eggs are laid, but an egg found by a La Crosse man in his hen house recently, had an almost perfect reproduction of a watch dial on its outside shell. The egg was of nearly normal size, but flat on the side with the dial impression. The dial is about an inch and a half in diameter, and is marked around the edges with 12 lines, in a manner like the numbers on a clock.

The egg is from a pure bred Barred Rock hen.

POSTER CONTEST DRAWS COMPETITION OF MANY CHILDREN

Between Six and Seven Hundred Monroe County School Children Turn in Posters

SPARTA, Wis.—The county-wide poster contest among the school children put on in conjunction with the "Dairy Products" campaign proved to be a very interesting and profitable feature of the campaign. Between six and seven hundred posters were sent in from all parts of the county representing latent artistic ability hitherto unknown.

Many of the finest posters from a strictly artistic standpoint did not get prized from a poster standpoint. Several very fine ones failed to have the conciseness asked for by Miss Stillman, the judge. Awards are as follows:

High school—First, J. R. Putman, Sparta; second, Tilmer Peterson, Cashton; third, Levera Lanke, Tomah.

Seventh and eighth grades—First, Wilbert Schroeder, Cashton; second, Dorothy Wedephul, Wilton; third, John Fuenger, Cashton.

Fifth and sixth grades—First, Thomas Hill, Sparta; second, Lois Lockwood, Tomah; third, Katherine Prince, Sparta.

State Graded School

Seventh and eighth grades—First, Meta Baumbach, Leon; second, Muriel Hopkins, Tunnel City; third, Regina Hass, Cashton.

Fifth and sixth grades—First, Glen Kissinger, Warrens; second, Elma Chapiewsky, Melvina; third, Louise Jewett, Angelo.

Rural Schools

Seventh and eighth grades—First, Alla Schindler, Wilton, Black Valley school; second, Isobel Heilman, Sparta, Lower Farmers' Valley; third, Anna Oswald, Sparta, Hillgrove school.

Fifth and sixth grades—First, Irvin Noth, Tomah, Watermill school; second, Evelyn Chapiewsky, Cashton, Portland Center school; third, Edwin Strozinsky, Wilton, Cold Springs school.

FARMERS ASK FOR MILLION DOLLARS TO WAGE T. B. WAR

The state of Wisconsin and individual farmers and breeders have been spending hundreds of thousands of dollars annually for a number of years to control bovine tuberculosis. In order to actually eliminate this great toll taking plague it is necessary not only to prevent its spread but expend sufficient effort to eliminate the existing cases as far as possible. Has our program in the past been extensive and intensive enough to achieve this end? The farmers say no, and are asking a million dollars annually in order that the tide of tuberculosis spread may be stopped and turned back in Wisconsin.

The farmers of Wisconsin, through their farm bureau, their breed and dairy associations, etc., are vitally interested in seeing that the program for the eradication of bovine tuberculosis be such as will prevent further spread from various sources and at the same time stamp out the disease in the herds of the state. A consistent campaign of eradication and prevention should produce a relatively clean state in about five years.

HOLSTEIN BREEDERS HOLD ANNUAL SALE WEDNESDAY, MAY 2

The annual consignment sale of the La Crosse County Holstein Breeders was held Wednesday in the stock sales pavilion at West Salem. In the opinion of the officers of the association, Reid Murray, secretary of the Wisconsin Livestock Breeders' association, and all who attended the sale, some of the finest cattle, grade and pure bred, ever offered on the auction block were seen.

The backward season, combined with a nice day, kept many local buyers at their work on the farms, so there was not as large a turnout as was desired. However a car of the cattle were bought and shipped home by Nebraska buyers a car and a half went to Iowa and a car to Western Minnesota.

DINNER OPENING DAIRY PRODUCTS WEEK A SUCCESS

Nearly Thousand People Fed on Dairy Food in Dinner at Sparta on Monday, April 30th

SPARTA, Wis.—Without a hitch or a fluke more than eight hundred people were fed at the dairy products dinner at Assembly hall, Monday, April 30. Those who were responsible for planning and putting this dinner on are to be complimented for the easy manner in which it was done. It is a tremendously big job to feed 800 but the organization of women, men and girls seemed to function perfectly and everyone who attended was given a splendid well balanced dinner.

At 11:30 the high school band marched down the streets and stopped in front of Assembly hall doors with a large crowd of people close on their heels. This was the beginning of a continuous flow of people and it was not until nearly 2 o'clock that everybody had eaten.

In spite of the fact that weather conditions were ideal for spring work, many farmers and their families came into the dinner. Under the direction of Miss Dunn, home economics teacher at the high school, high school girls, dressed as dairymaids, did the serving and in their clean, white aprons emphasized the fact that the dinner was a dairy meal.

All day long Sparta literally bubbled over with the spirit of "Dairy Products" week. "Bill" Gurney and his committee evidently made up their minds from the beginning that they were going to sell the idea of window displays because practically every window in the city had appropriate decorations by Monday night.

Many of the business men took unusual pains and put in windows that are exceedingly attractive.

VAN AUKEN SPEAKS AT VIROQUA MEET ON FRIDAY NIGHT

C. S. Van Auken, secretary of the Interstate Fair association of La Crosse, spoke at a dinner meeting of the Viroqua Community club at Viroqua last Friday evening. Mr. Van Auken spoke on boys and girls club work at the Interstate fair, touching upon the value of the training given prospective teachers in the normal schools and county training schools, and its influence on the boys and girls. He also, in his talk, advocated the improvement of highway number 11 to make an all-weather road from La Crosse to Madison. The speaker told of the importance in camp sites, improved parks, lakes and city streets in attracting tourists to a community.

The Viroqua Community club says organized last November by a number of business men and farmers of the community. The club has a membership of 140 and meets twice a month.

U. S. DISCOVERS NEW WAY TO WAR ON TOBACCO WORM

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A new method of control of "screwworms," "wireworms," and sod webworms, which attack tobacco and similar crops, has been discovered by the tobacco insect laboratory of the United States department of agriculture.

It has been found that these worms are greatly attracted to nitrobenzene, and by favoring poison with this chemical a mortality of from 80 to 90 per cent of the larvae in heavily infested fields is produced. These larvae are important pests of tobacco and a large variety of other crops, and up to this time fall plowing and other indirect methods were the only known ways of combating them.

WASHINGTON C. T. A. REPORT FOR APRIL

The month of April finds the herds in the Washington association doing exceedingly well considering the scarcity of protein feeds. The grade Guernsey herd owned by August Hammes and sons again takes top honors with an average of 869.3 pounds milk or 44.13 pounds fat, Frank Mlsna and sons' grade Holsteins coming close second with an average of 1191 pounds milk or 40.8 pounds fat, a very good average for 23 cows. Nine herds averaged over 30 pounds fat this month, with 64 cows in the 40 pound list.

IT'S A NEW BARNYARD FOWL

Here's the newest addition to the ranks of barnyard fowl—the cassowary. The bird is from Australia, is a cousin of the ostrich and emu, and having no wings, it never flies into the neighbor's garden. It reduces trash collection because it eats anything—phonograph needles included.

VERNON COUNTY TOBACCO IS NOW PLACED IN BEDS

County Agent E. W. Schelling Issues Warning to Breeders Against Wildfire

BY E. W. SCHELLING,
Vernon County Agricultural Agent.

A good portion of the tobacco seed sown in Vernon county has already found its place in the seed bed and is on its way to producing tobacco plants. In many instances proper precaution has been used to insure a good development of healthy tobacco plants. In other instances little or no heed was given to the kind of seed or place from where the seed was obtained. Little thought was given to the danger of sowing seed that may probably be carrying tobacco Wild Fire in it. Where proper measures were taken to sterilize the seed all danger from infection has been eliminated. However, where such precaution has not been taken it is very necessary that the grower keep careful watch of his tobacco bed at all times.

Should infection of Wild Fire occur in the tobacco bed, a final measure may have to be resorted to. The grower may have to resort to spraying or dusting the beds with bordeaux mixture. Spraying or dusting should be done once a week from the time the leaves are as large as a dime until the pulling of the plants. Such treatment has been found to be efficient in preventing spread of the infection throughout the bed.

HOLMEN C. T. A. MARCH REPORT

Out of the 450 cows tested for March, 54 cows made 40 pounds butterfat or better compared with 21 cows out of 425 making 40 pounds last year.

The H. Waldenberger estate herd of Ayrshires come in for first place in the herd averages when they made 914 pounds milk, making 30.24 pounds butterfat. This is very good considering there are 19 cows milking and most of them fresh last fall. Clarence Holter's registered Holsteins come in for a close second with an average of 1,038 pounds milk, making 39 pounds butterfat. A. F. Meyer's Guernseys averaged 37.4 pounds butterfat and C. F. Tabbert's Guernseys averaged 37 pounds butterfat.

OLD METHODS ARE BETTER FOR SHOWS IN BADGER STATE

New System of Arranging Cattle in Classes Rather than Herds Not Approved Here

MADISON.—It is not likely that the new system of arranging cattle in classes rather than in herds at fairs and shows will be adopted in Wisconsin. This method is employed by the annual show of the Royal Agricultural Society of England and for some time leaders in American livestock circles have given consideration to adopting a similar practice at American cattle events.

The opinion of Wisconsin livestock leaders is that, although visitors would be allowed to compare more easily the prize winners of the different classes at any time, the new arrangement would cause much extra work and confusion.

A herdsman cannot be expected to run with his feed buckets and bales of hay from a class in one barn to young stock in another. And the expense of hiring additional help would be so great that many breeders and farmers would be discouraged in bringing animals to the fairs.

"This system is not practical for Wisconsin show conditions," says G. C. Humphrey, of the Animal Husbandry department of the University of Wisconsin.

"I can see that there are some advantages, especially from the standpoint of the show committee, also for educational reasons.

"But the practical handicaps are too great. For large herds many extra helpers would be required to take care of the animals. Herdsmen would be exposed to extra difficulties. Many exhibitors would undoubtedly become discouraged and stop showing."

A hike of 18,000 miles across South America, the United States and Canada is being undertaken by P. H. T. Tresslar, Jr., of Texas, who is walking for his health.

FARM BOYS AND GIRLS PLANNING OCTOBER MEETING

October 24, 25 and 26 are Dates Set for Meet at Madison; E. E. Jones a Judge

MADISON, Wis.—Three dates—October 24, 25 and 26—will soon be marked in red on the calendars of many Wisconsin farm boys and girls.

Those are the days of the great annual junior meat-makers' tournament, held here under the auspices of the Wisconsin Livestock Breeders' association. Exhibits of well fed and fitted lambs, pigs and baby beeves will be shown by boys and girls from all over the state.

According to an announcement just made by John C. Robinson, president of the Wisconsin Livestock Breeders' association, the 1923 clinic will be an outstanding representation of Wisconsin's meat-making resources. In his official notice to Badger groups Robinson announces but three restrictions in the exhibition. These are: All animals exhibited must be fed, fitted, entered and shown by the exhibitor.

One of the innovations in this year's exposition will be the addition of the ton litter contest in which competition will be open to young and old alike. This project is having full support of the state association, the College of agriculture and each of the respective swine breeders' associations.

The goal of the litter competition will be to produce a ton of pork, or its equivalent, from a single litter.

The lamb show will be staged under direction of committees consisting of M. F. Hogan of the Wisconsin Livestock Breeders' association, R. F. Richards of the Wisconsin Sheep Breeders' association, and Frank Kleinheinz of the Wisconsin College of Agriculture.

In presenting the baby beeves for inspection and award the officers of the Wisconsin Livestock Breeders' association will be assisted by committees consisting of R. E. Reynolds of the Wisconsin Shorthorn Breeders' association, John C. Robinson of the Wisconsin Hereford Breeders' association, and James G. Fuller of the Wisconsin Aberdeen-Angus Breeders' association.

The judges of each of the divisions of the show have already been chosen. They are:

Baby beeves — Hugh Robinson, Rock county; Arthur McKevitt, Grant county, and Eben E. Jones; La Crosse county.

Pigs and litters—W. G. Bartlett, Racine county; Will Burtz, Rock county, and Ed Dixon, Green county.

Lambs—Walter Renk, Dane county; Roy Broughton, Green county, and W. G. Miles, Rock county.

HOLSTEIN SALE AT SPARTA
